Knowledge is the indispensable condition of the expansion of the mind and the instrument of attaining it.
But this is not the whole of the matter
For it is not a vast memory that makes a man but the shaping power of his intellect:
his ability to reduce to order and meaning what he has acquired, so that by analysis, comparison, and judgment of observed relationships
He is able to find that the world is neither dull, stale, nor unprofitable,
But a various and complicated drama, with parts,
with an intelligible object,
and with an ultimate and awesome meaning.

Fr. Marran, speaking at the National Merit Assembly, stresses the importance of education in today's society.

Assemblies Unite Student Body

Class time sacrificed

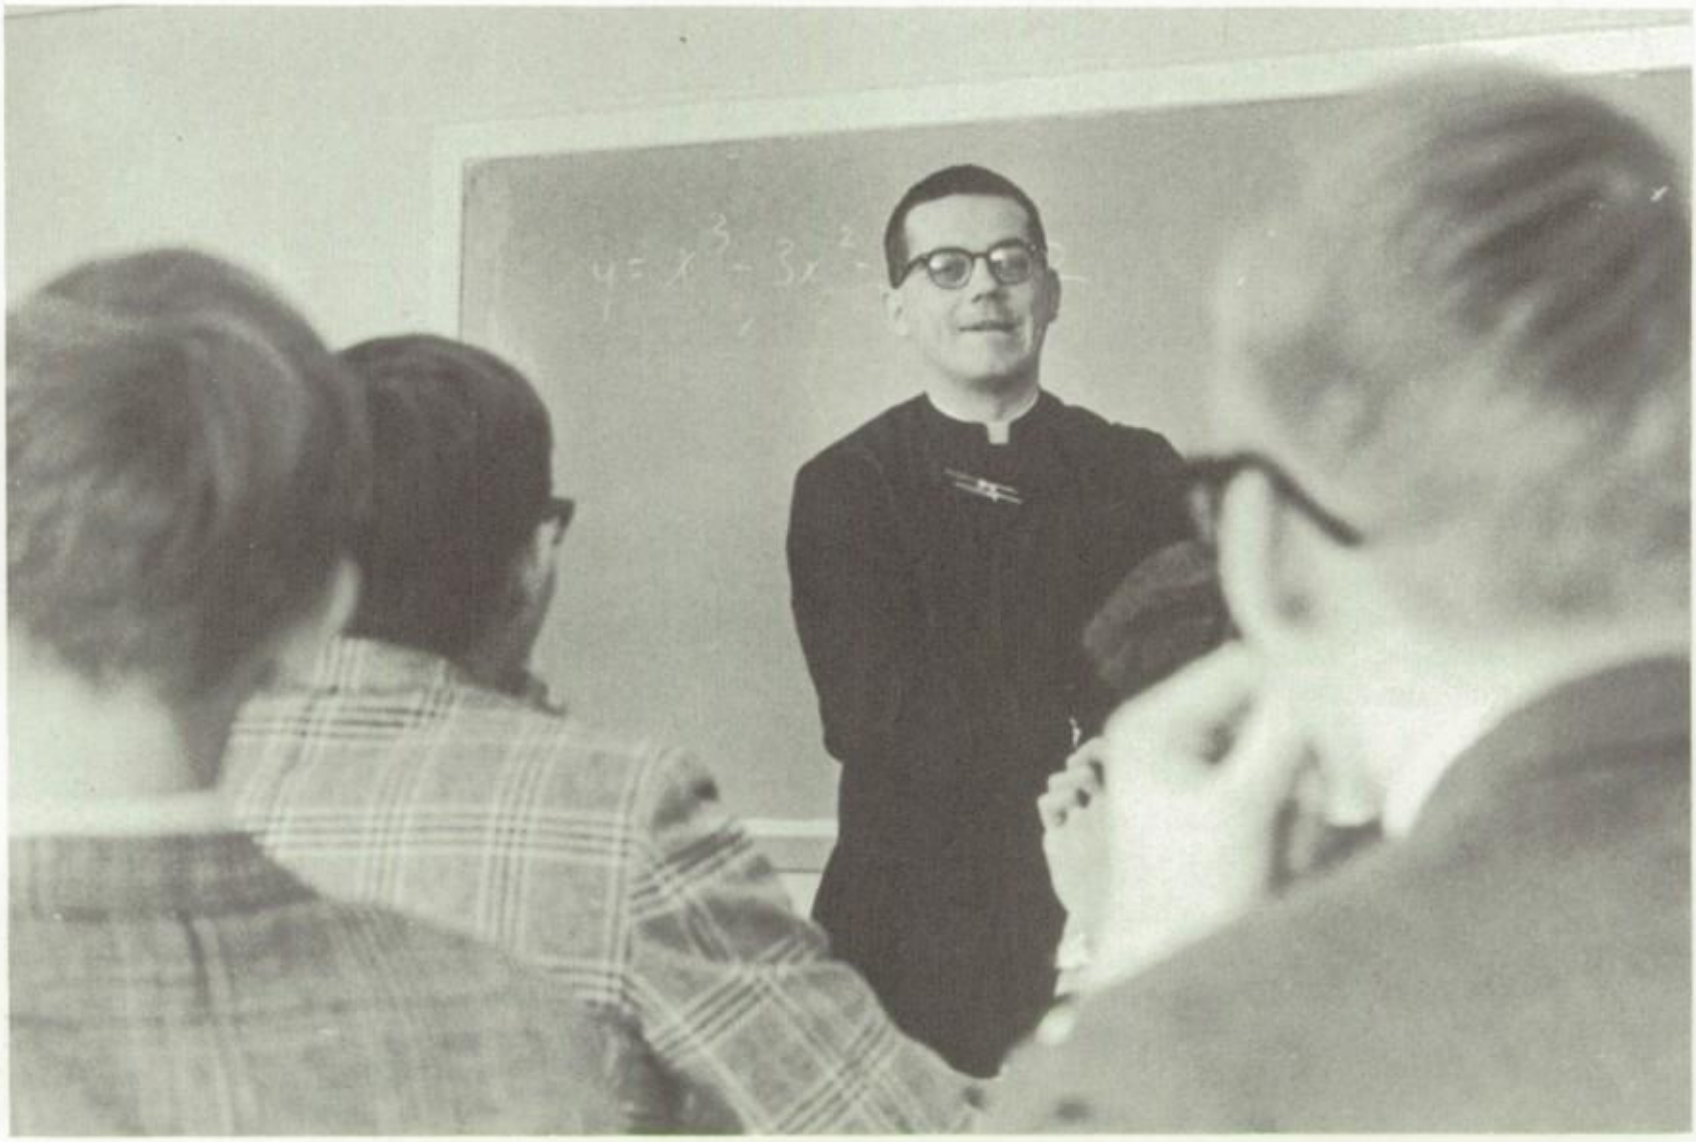
Assemblies are always the high-point of the school day. Whether it be to honor a National Merit semi-finalist, or listen to a fiery account of life in the foreign missions; spirit always runs high at these friendly gatherings. All students are seated together during these times and it is only natural that a sense of unity be felt. Also, prior to assemblies, students are given an opportunity to develop an important sense of sacrifice. Valuable class time must be relinquished in order to make the meetings possible. As of yet, St. Francis students have proven themselves to be very open-minded and charitable concerning this matter. Very seldom do they ever object.

Frank Britt, Greg DeRosa, Leon LaPointe, John Domalski, and Jay Sherry, under the direction of Fr. Gross, impart their secret formulas for success in studying at the Freshman Seminar.

At assemblies, some pay attention — others do not.

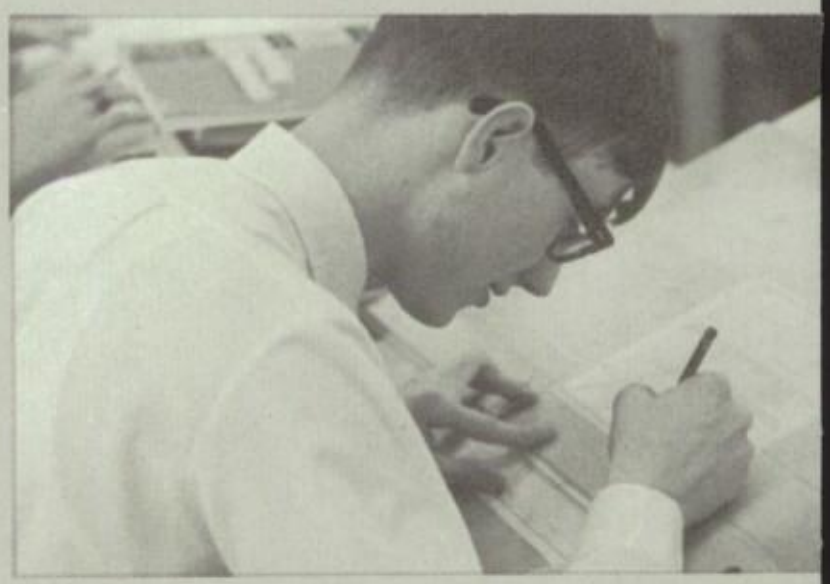
Adventure filled experiences in the missions of South Africa are related to the student body by a visiting missionary priest.

Mathematics: More Than Numbers



The Seniors who have had Father Barkenquest know that this mordant smile is saying "Table 6".

Necessary at every university, college mathematics demands a strong high school background. In recognition of this need, the St. Francis faculty established a four year intensive math program which has since proved to be a success. With the recent addition of pre-calculus, an Advanced Placement course offered to seniors, the math department is now one of the most revolutionary branches in the school. Under its leader, Father Lehr Barkenquest, the math department challenges every student from freshman to junior in basic courses. Seniors are given last minute instructions in a survival course necessary to finish four years of college.



Rick Fowler applies the principles of the world of mathematics to the board of the draftsman.

Freshmen appeared momentarily baffled by a puzzling Algebra I problem in Coach Ingham's class.

Bob Evers and Jim Radecki collaborate on a pre-calculus exam.

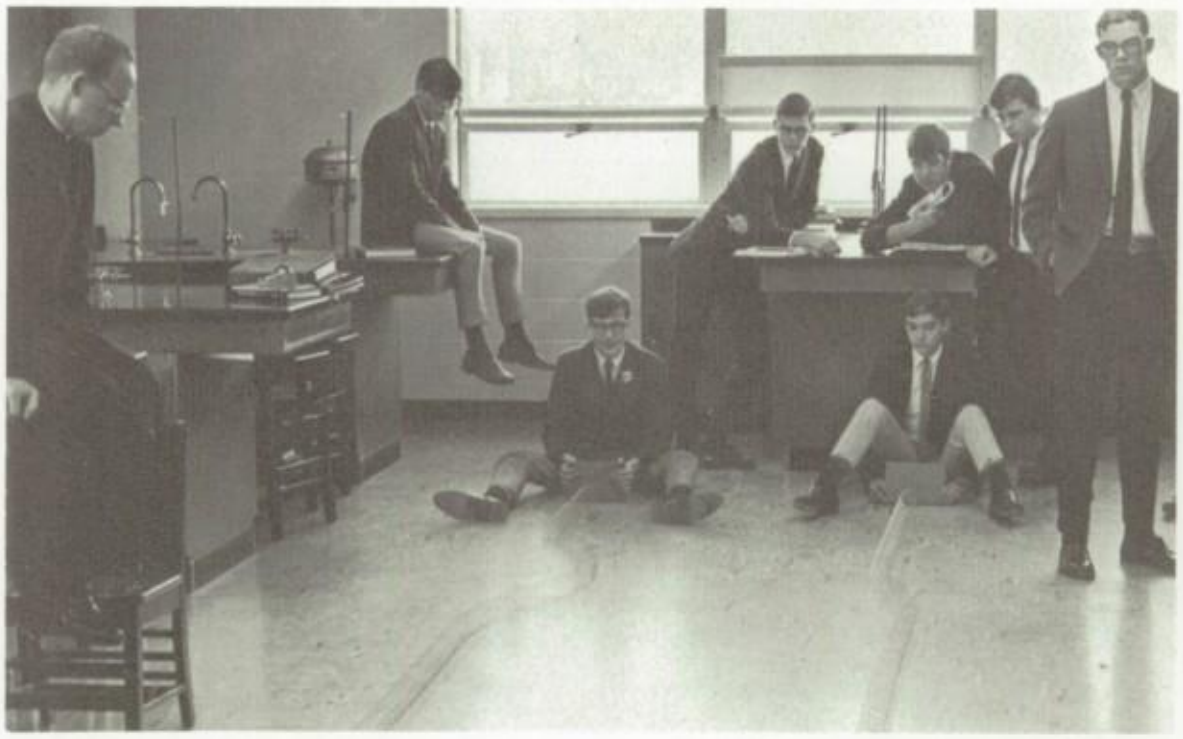
Social Studies: Rooted in the Three out of four St. Francis students wear penny loafers to class.

Social Studies comprises World History, Economics, and Political Science. It has its foundations in the past, and is pointed toward the future. A chapter by chapter study of the text book can give merely an outline of the past. The real instruction depends upon the teacher who stimulates his students' interest and rounds out their knowledge. Fathers Casey and Koelzer, and Mssrs. Kennedy and Mattingly are revolutionaries in this field.

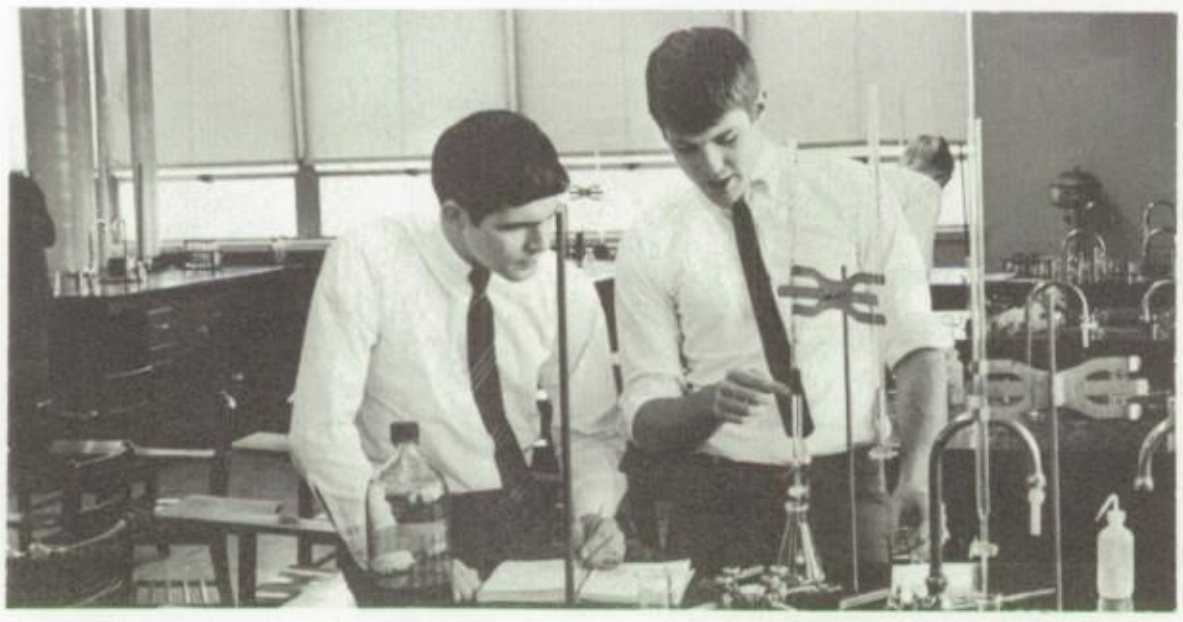
Father Koelzer symbolizes the entire expanse of History in one dramatic gesture.

A well-prepared class offers quick response to Mr. Mattingly's questions in History.

Past; Pointed Towards the Future

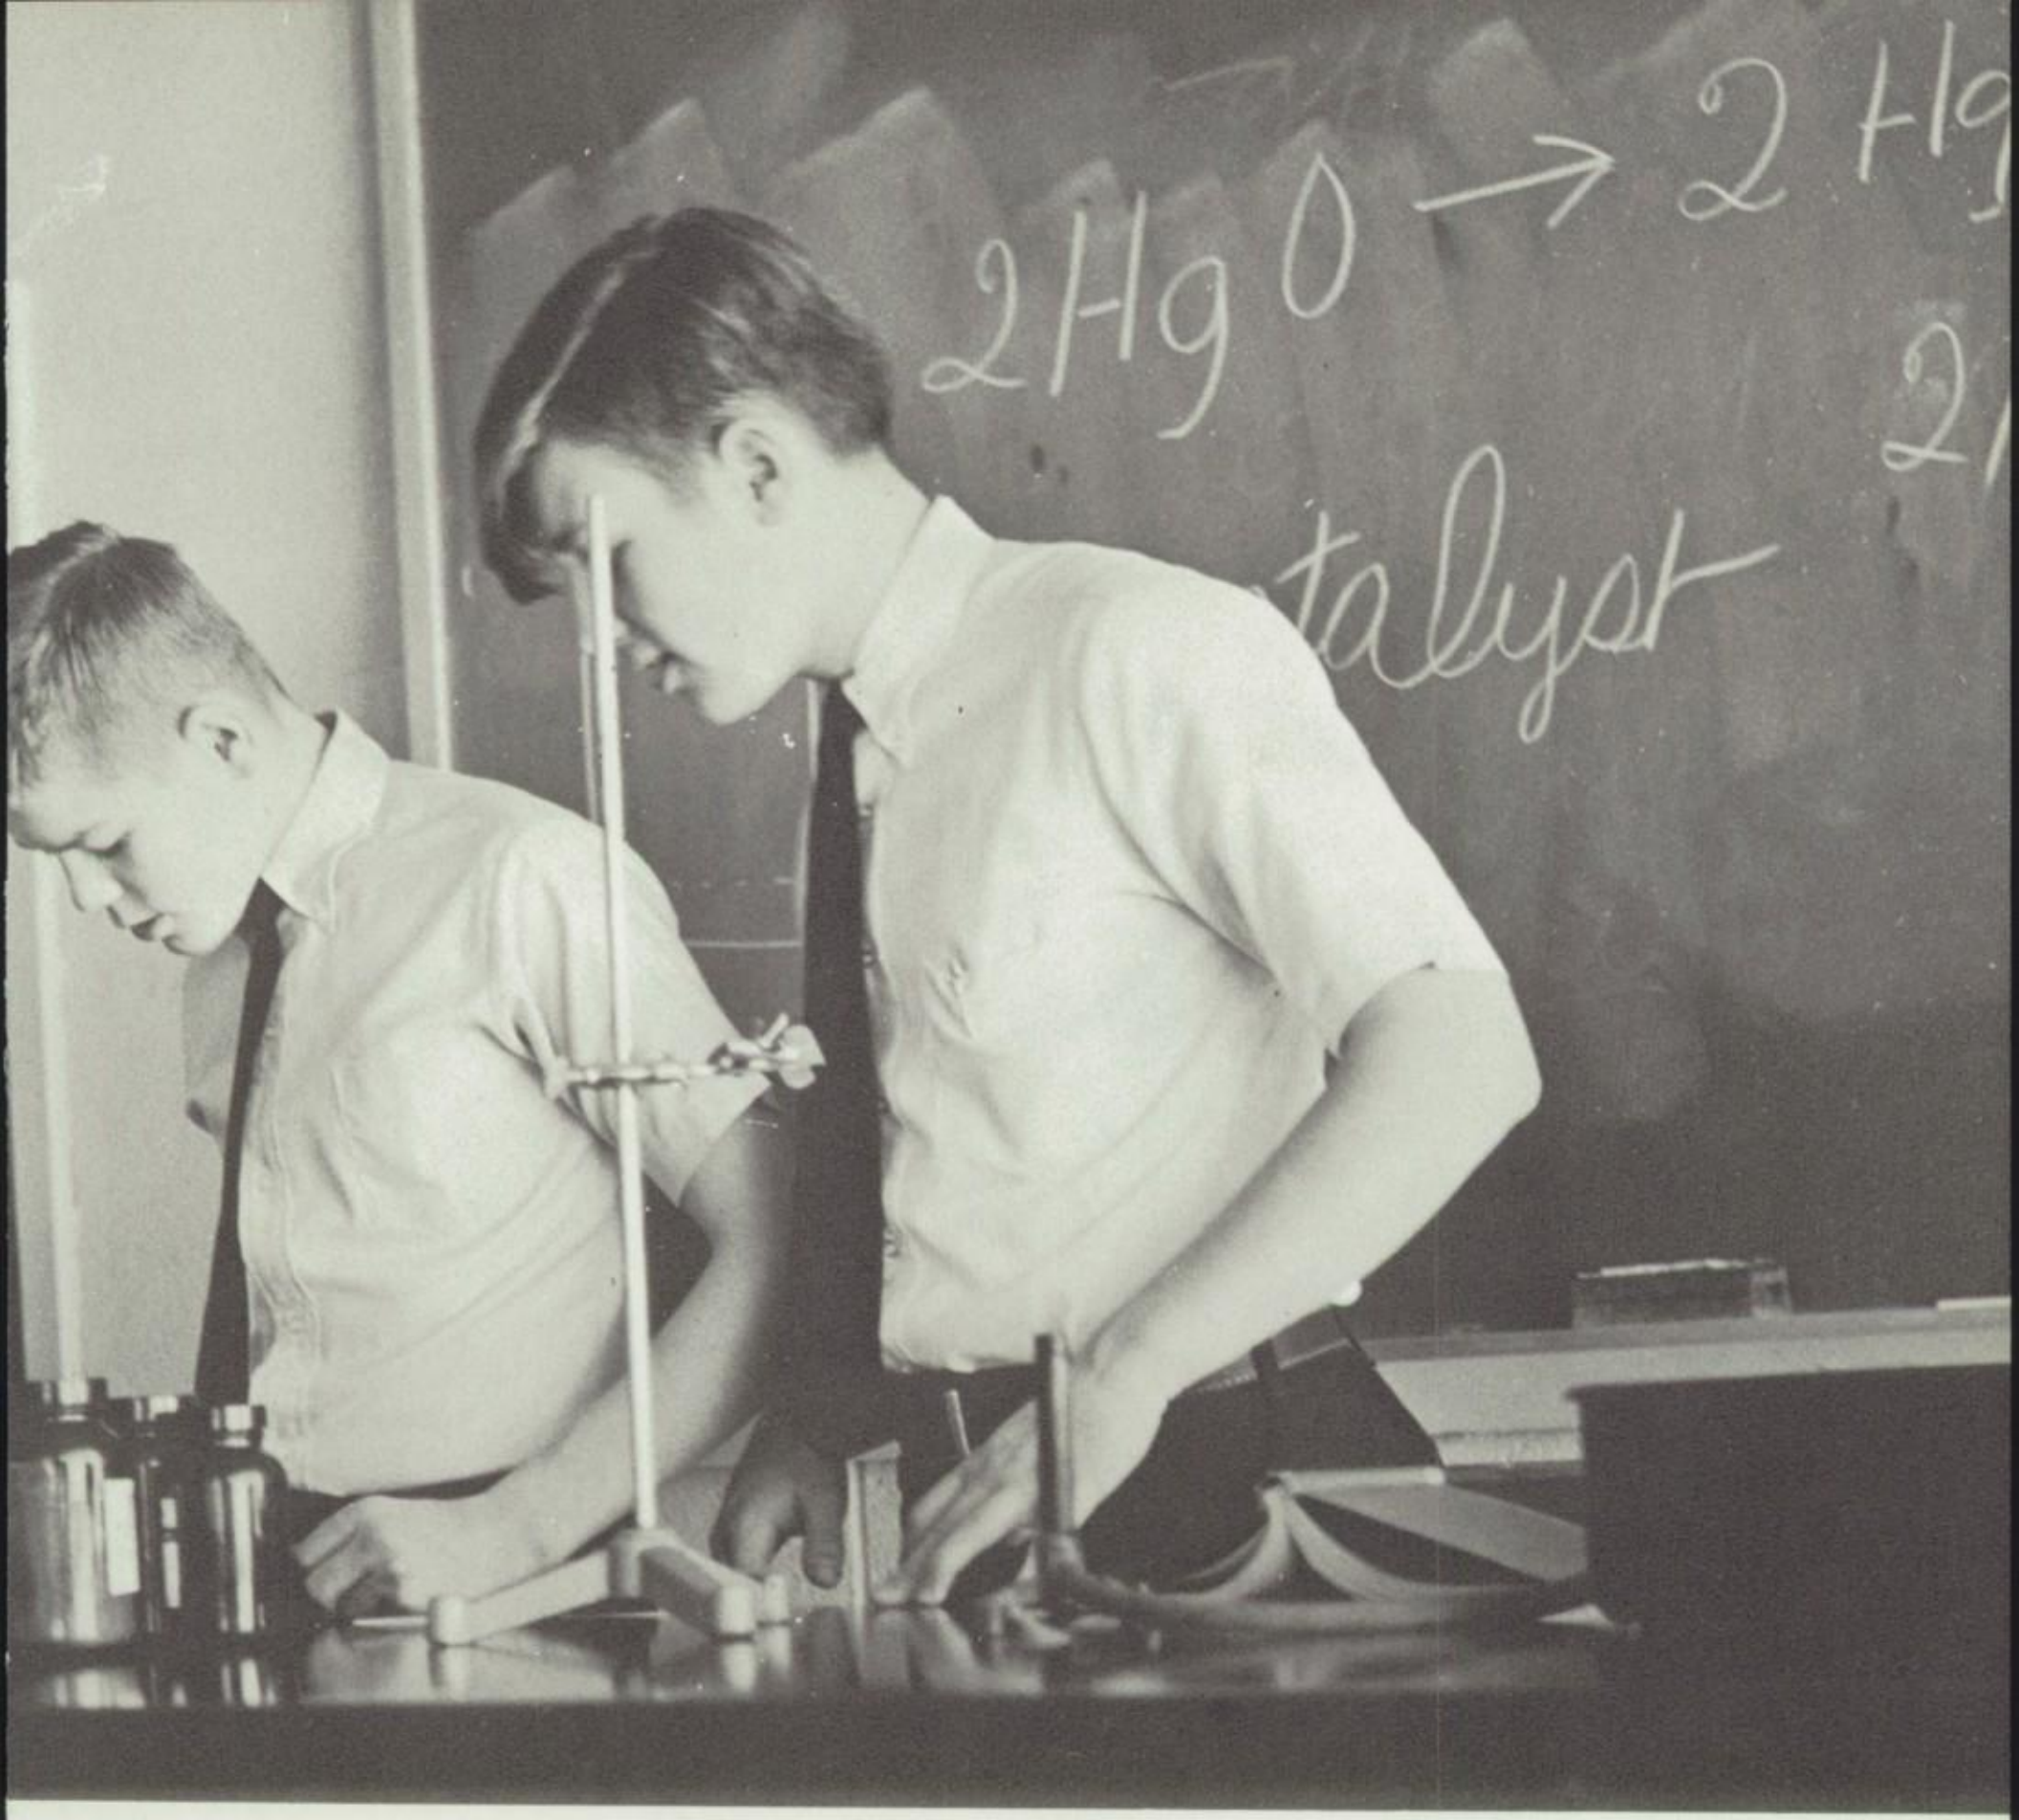


Freshmen Science students under the direction of Fr. Komorowski receive introduction into qualitative analysis.



Science:

A practical experiment in physics catches the Seniors in a rare moment of sobriety.



Dave Lisowski and Don McMullin delve into a problem in quantitative analysis.

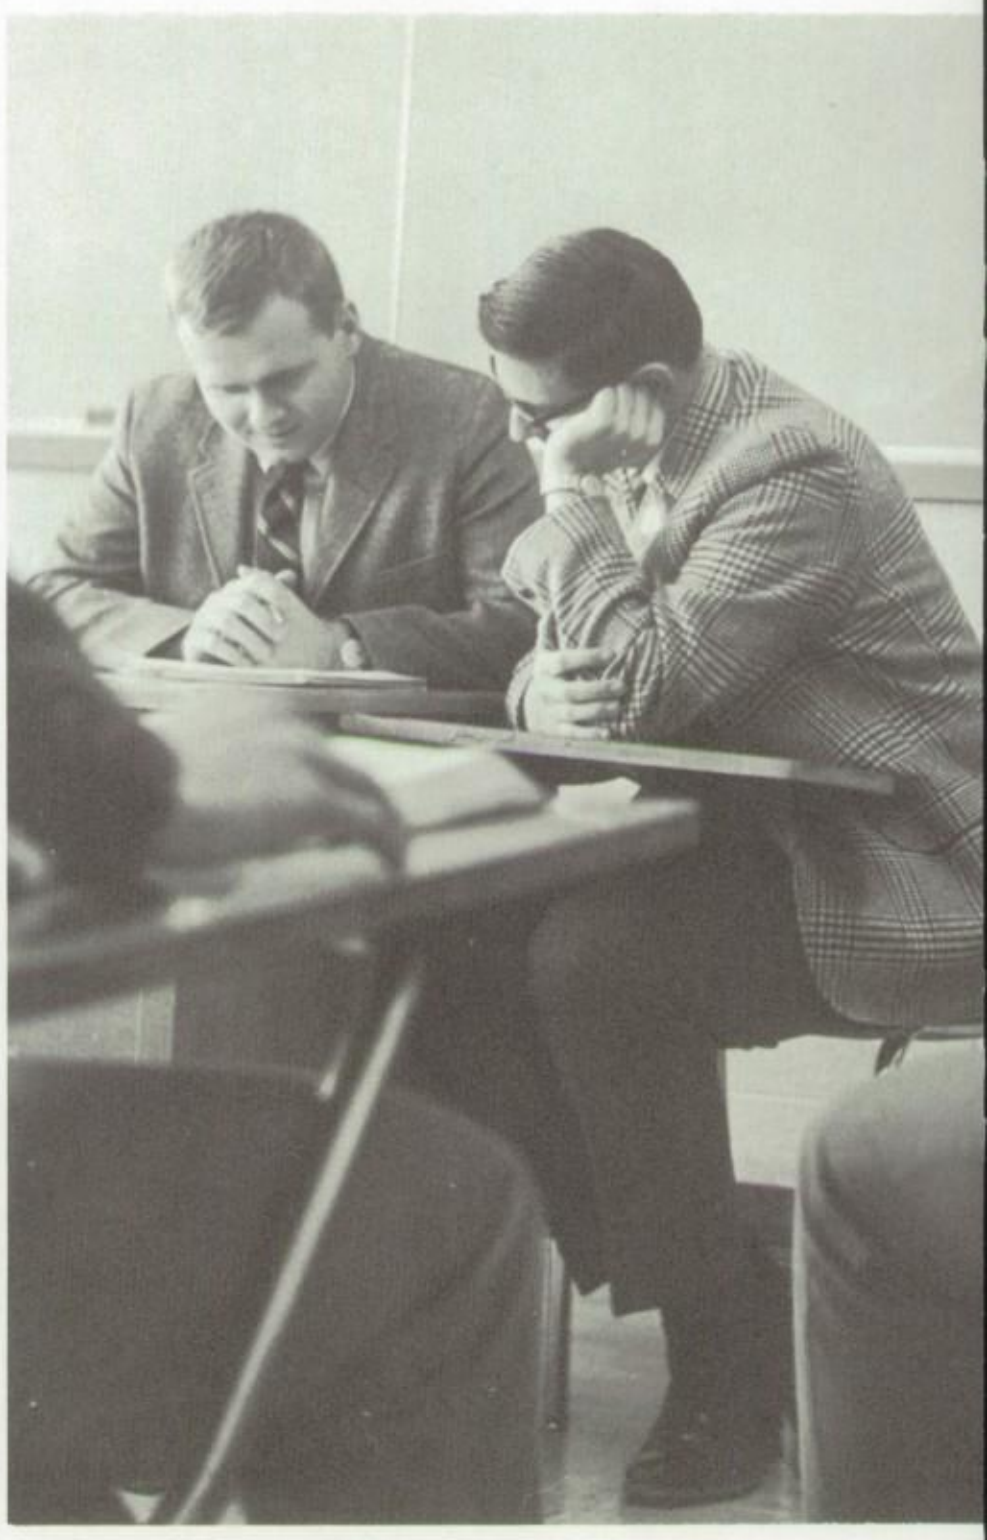
Methodology Demands Precision and Imagination

Just as the Poets Corner of Westminster Abbey is the most famous part of the Abbey, the Science Corner is the most visited part of the school at St. Francis de Sales. On approaching this corner from the cafeteria, the visitor's eye is first caught by a bright and newly designed room on his right. Inside, young students are staring at a diagram of a molecule. The bare essentials of science are being uncovered here for the Freshmen. Across the hall, in an unlighted room, older boys are observing the patterns of waves created in a ripple tank; an essential part of physics is being demonstrated before them. Further down the hall, in an area neighboring the molecule room, rowdy students manhandle infant chickens while exploring the depths of biology. At the far end of the hall, the very foundation of the science department -- the chemistry laboratory -- dark sulphurous fumes add to the atmosphere.

English: The Art of Expression

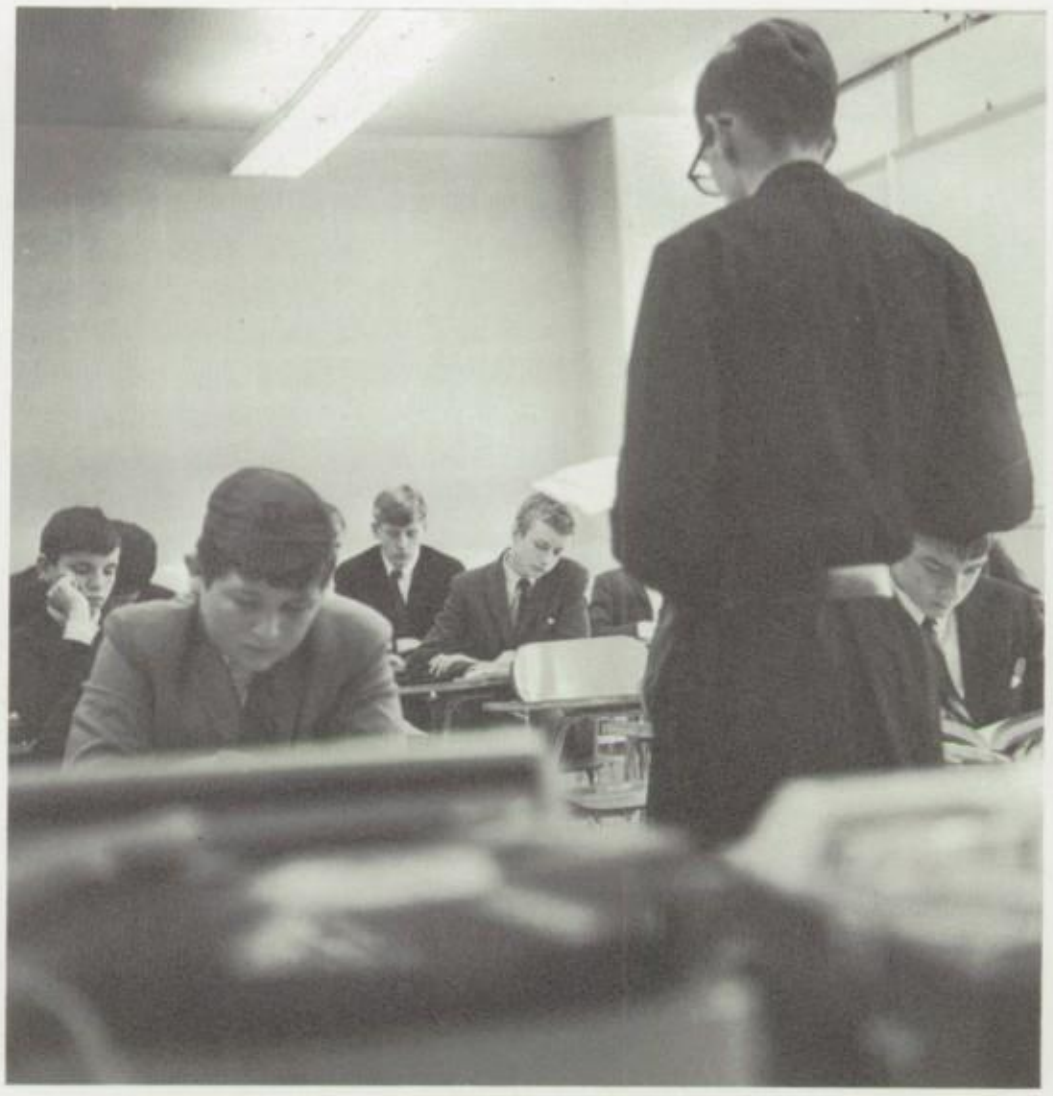
The Tale of Two Cities, Silas Marner, Hamlet, and The Glass Menagerie constitute major parts of any high school literature course. In their study of the major works of various authors, students search for a writing style of their own. Grammar and vocabulary are an aid to self-expression. When a talent for composition is developed, then the English Program has been successful: the student is prepared for college.

Greg Armstrong points out to Henri Jabon the symbolism in the Wilton Diptych, a characteristic found in the Medieval allegories.

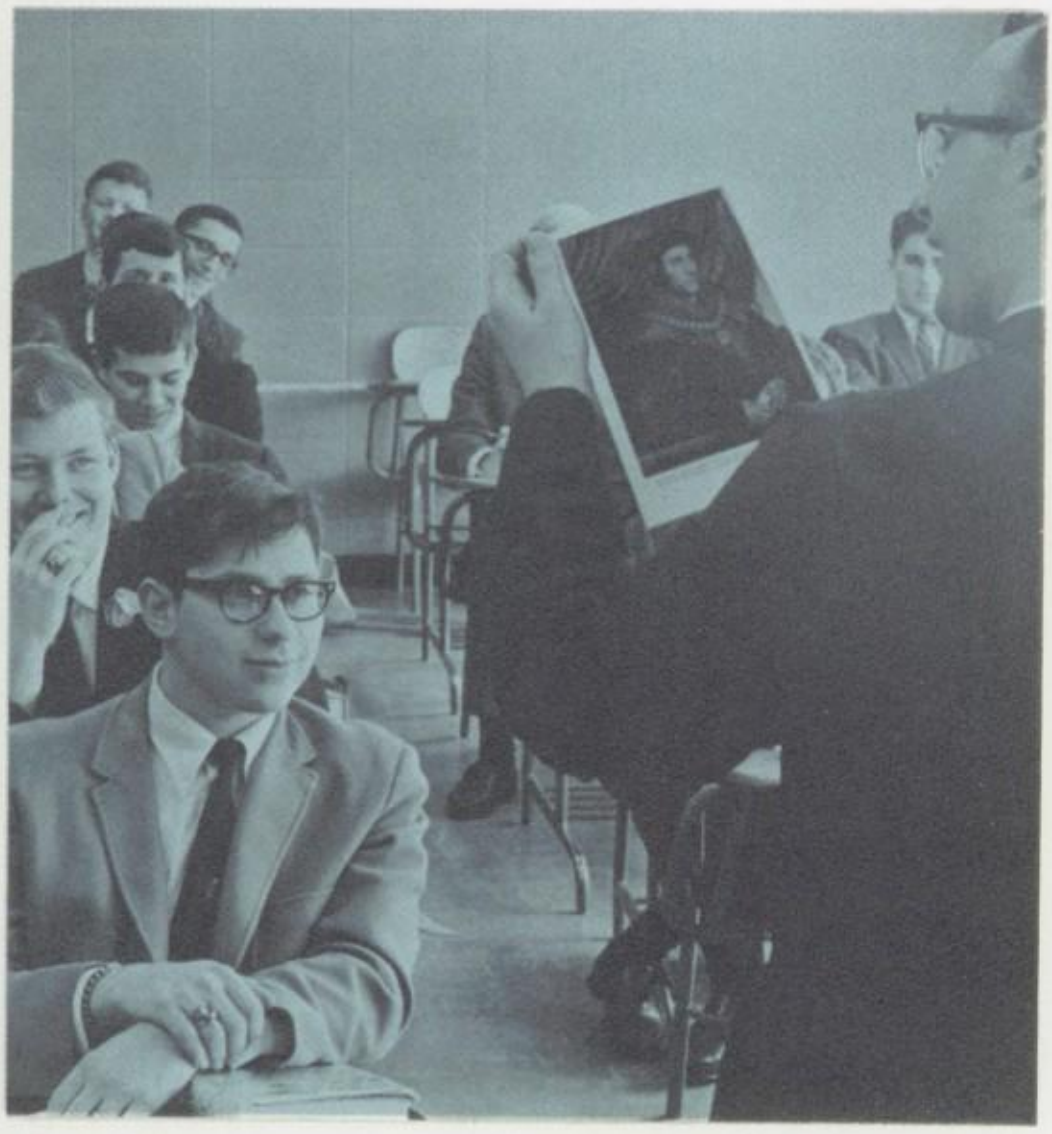


Mr. Harshman lends constructive criticism to Allen Gorlewski's composition in Junior English.

Joe Extejt observes the dramatic technique of thespian John Daly.

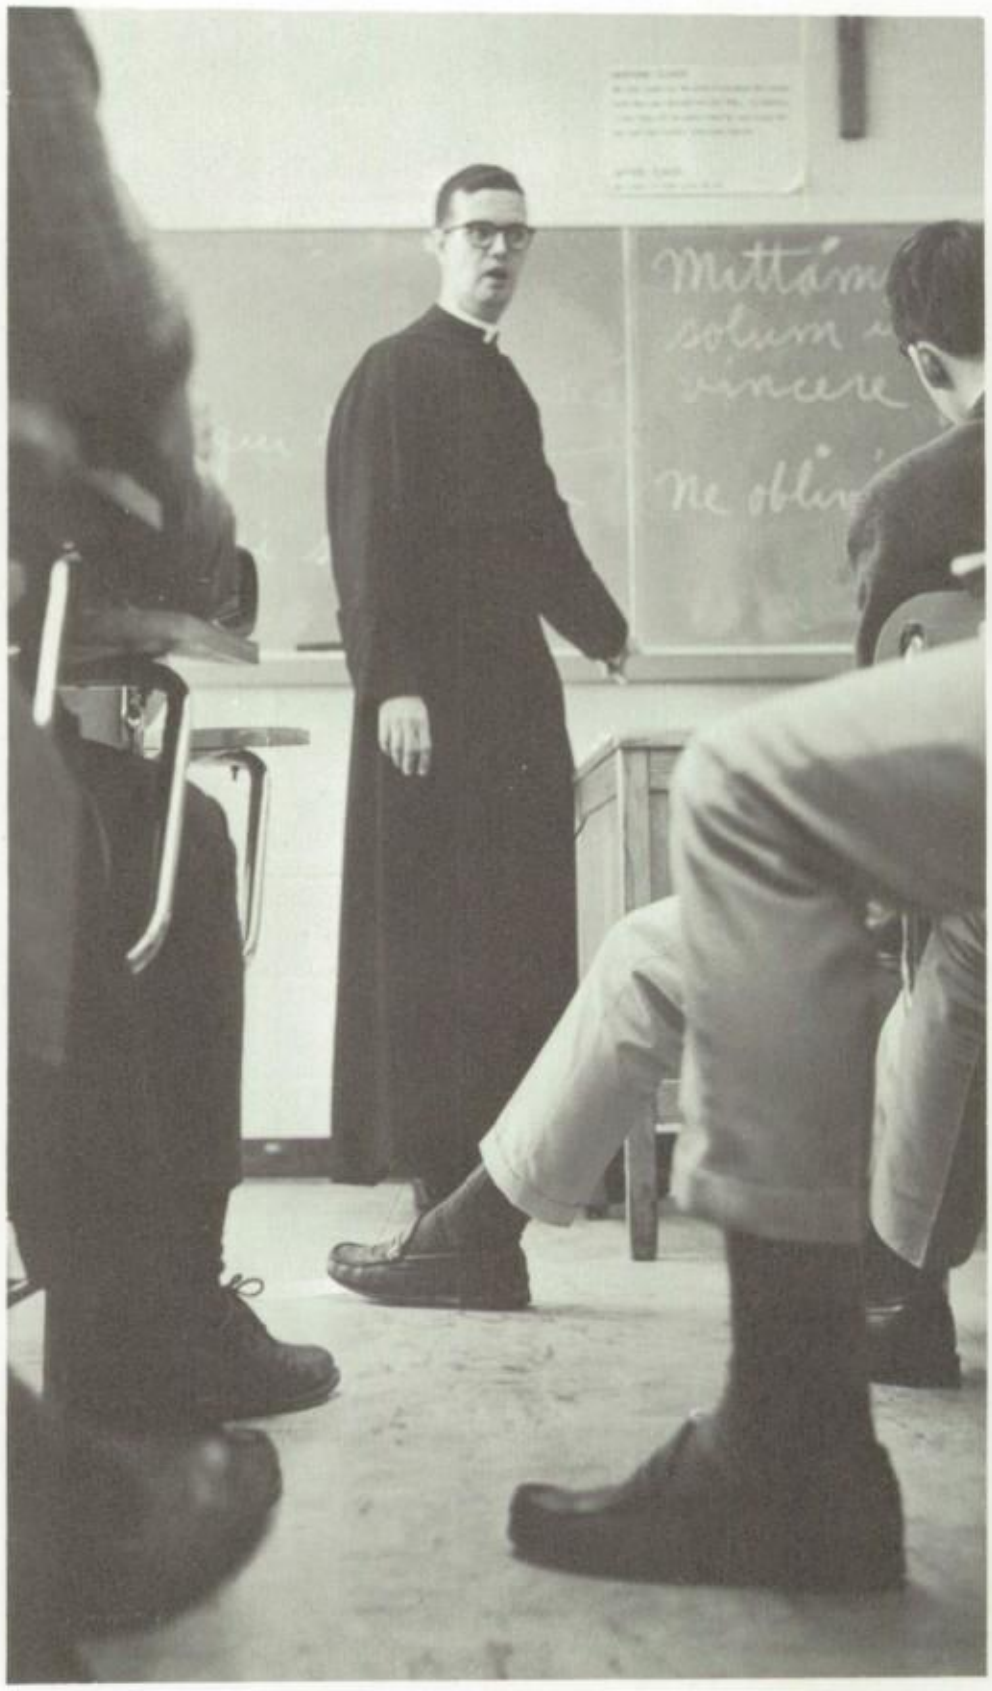


Freshmen listen attentively to Brother James' dramatic reading of Romeo and Juliet; Brother stressed the dramatic and poetic achievement of Shakespeare.

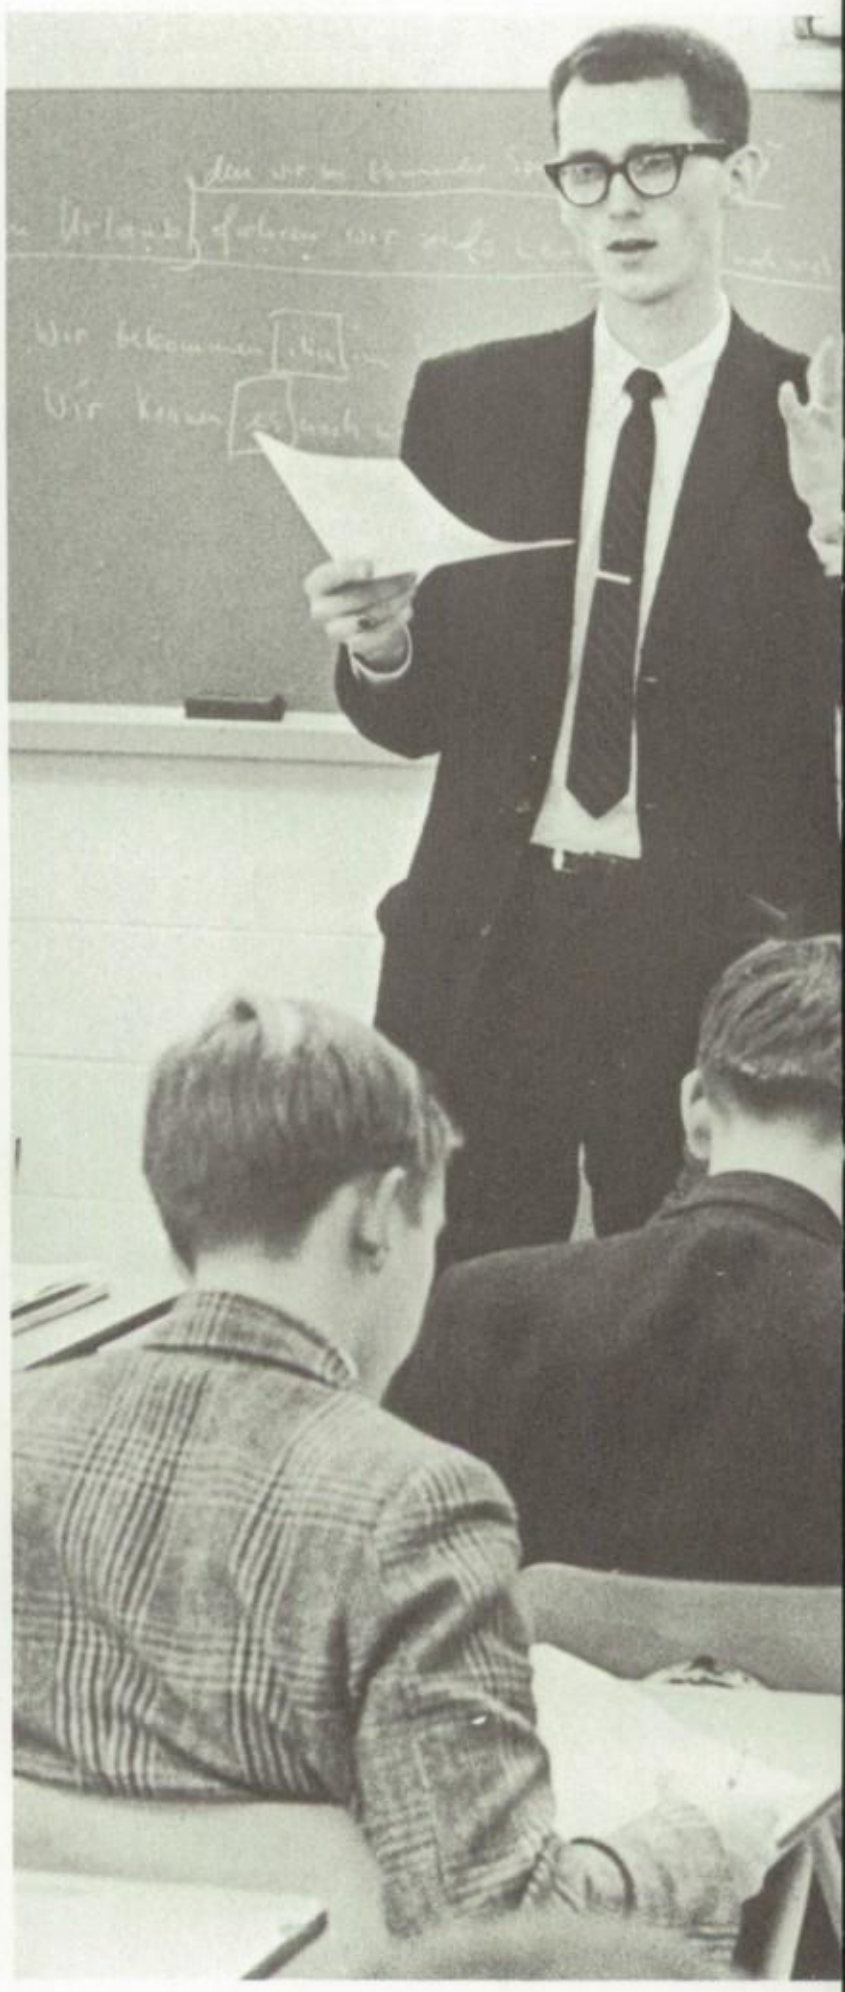


Father Cryan strikes an amusing note about Hans Holbein the Younger and the Renaissance individualism found in early English portraiture.

Linguistics: The Discipline That Opens

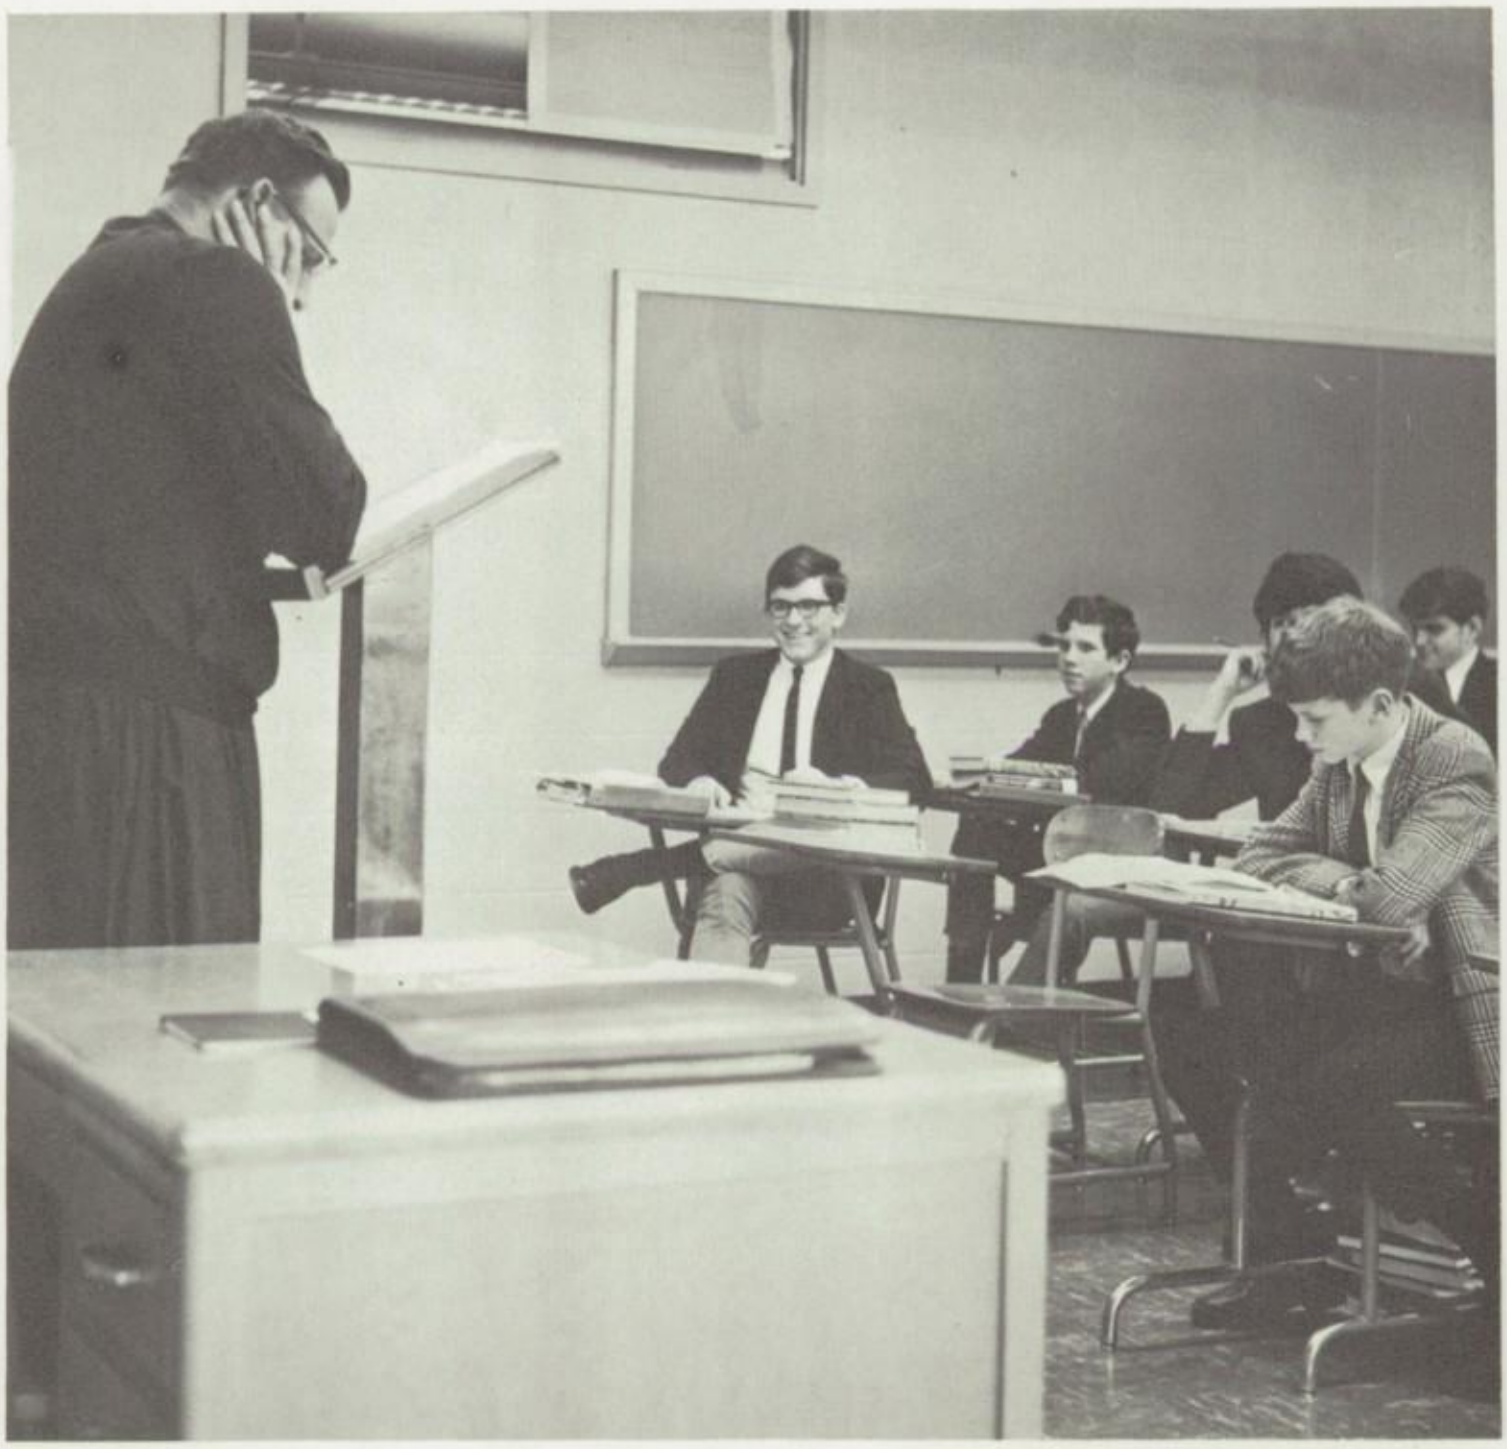


Fr. Finn "sets" a sophomore with some extra-curricular work in a classical language.



Mr. Mudrow's drilling in German gave the Sophomores a strong foundation in the language. Not always the brightest people in the world, the Sophs still put a lot of effort in whatever they undertook.

Horizons



Father Diekman never ceases to be amazed by the ingenuity a Freshman will use to make clear, logical language like Latin into something cumrous.

The Humanities, consisting of the Departments of History, English, Classical and Modern Languages, are the backbone of a high school. St. Francis de Sales High School will never be called an invertebrate.

Since the study of humanities is the study of the culture of people, languages play a most important role in the communication that leads to mutual understanding. The modern man must be equipped with at least one foreign tongue. For this reason, the language department headed by Father Baraniewicz offers three modern languages, French, German, and Russian; and two classical languages, Latin and Greek. The quota per student is four years of some language. This requisite is determined by a definite foresight into the needs of the future of the students.

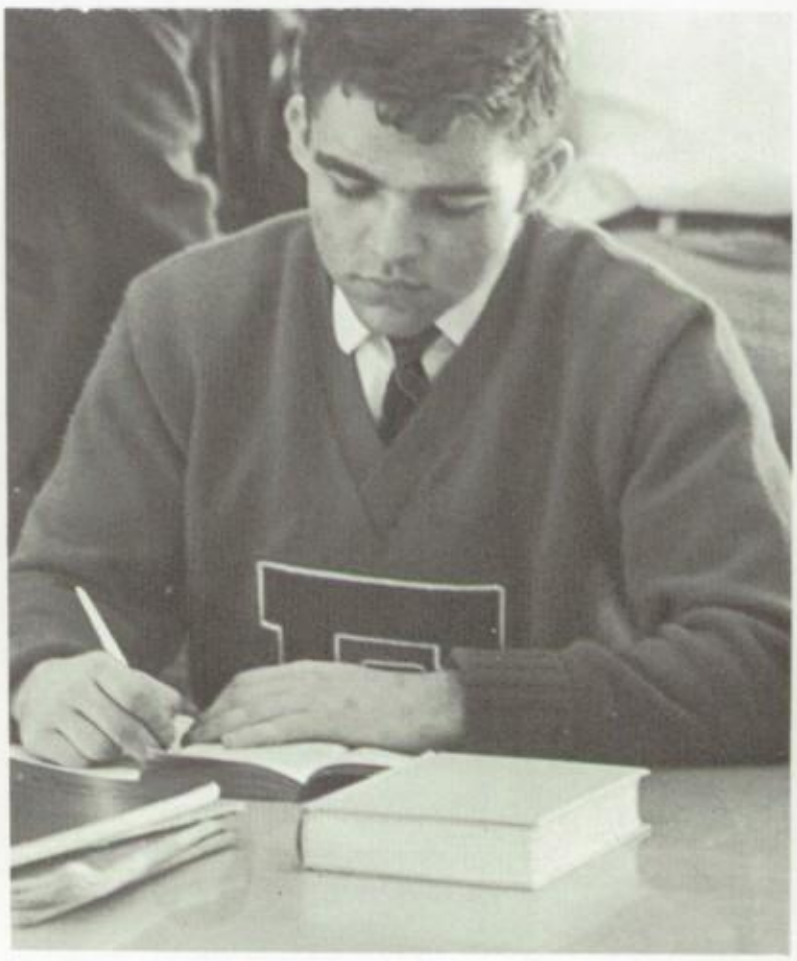
Sounds of the Day: From Whispers to Shouts

Sounds are characteristic of many classes and periods. The sound of the library is the hushed whisper and the rattle of turning pages. At the other extreme, the lunch period is known for its cacophonous laughter and thundering din. A swift change of scene finds the voices of harmony as the Glee Club offers a relaxing break in the day. In room 201, a disarrayed percussion section conducted by Brother McDonald learns a necessary skill, that of typing.



Senior Jim Zarembski finds the library useful in background work for his studies.

Year Abroad Develops Lives of Seven Juniors

The Imperial Palace of Vienna was a favorite home for Franz Joseph of Austria and the knights.

One brisk evening in mid-September, seven members of the Class of 1969 left for a year abroad. These seven boys brought the total number of boys participating in our unique high school foreign-exchange program to sixty since its incipiency in 1962. This year, all seven students are studying at Ecole S. Michel in Annecy, France. The knights in Europe are given the opportunity to expand their knowledge of a language, and offered the advantage of the cultural and aesthetic values of Europe.

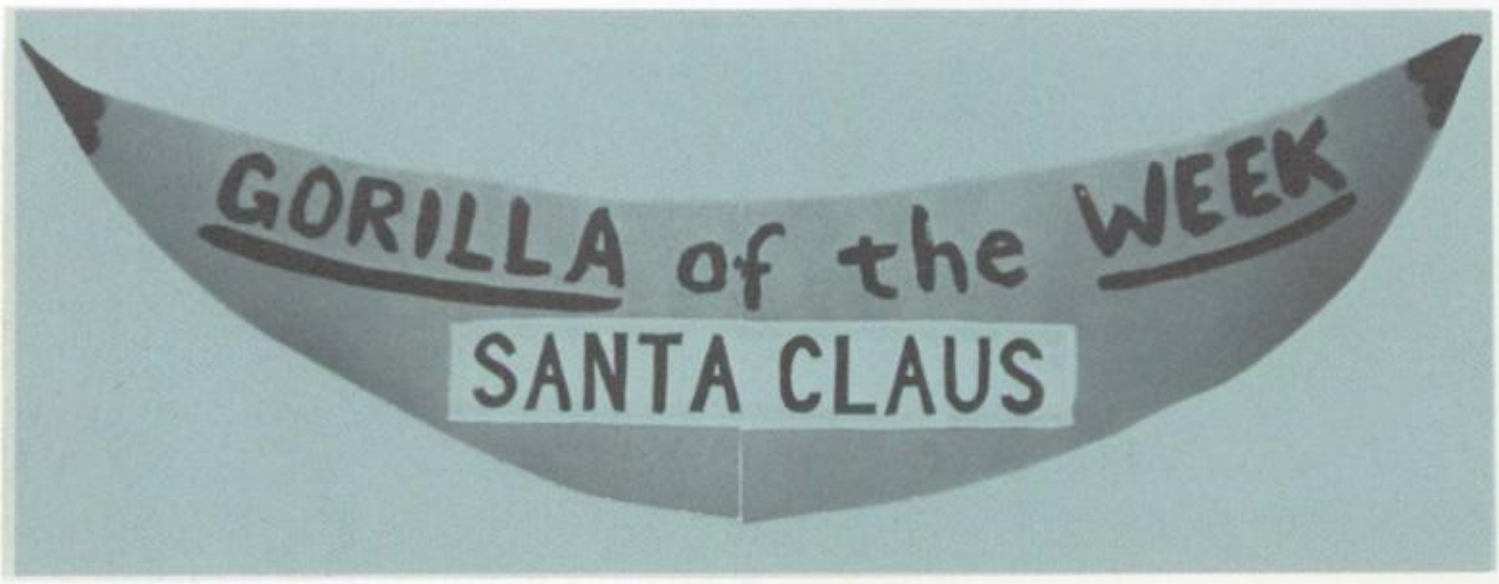
Activities



The reflected light in the eyes of an infant presents no image,
but only a medley of colors and shadows.
All education is simply growth in definition.
Activities, as well as studies,
remove the original dimness of the mind's eye to strengthen and perfect its vision, to give the mind clearness, accuracy and precision,
to enable it to use words aright,
to understand what it says,
to judge rightly and justly in human affairs.

During A Concert in the Park, band members follow closely the instructions of Mr. Zapletal to produce a melody to rival the Concert Hall.

Bandsmen Chuck Culpert, Van Jackson, Wes Sims, and John Bayer follow that "age old" adage, "Practice makes perfect."

Musical Knights Excel

Band Members add color to school activities

Throughout the school year, many activities come and go. There are, however, a few that remain the entire year. One of these is the band.

Under the able direction of Mr. Zapletal and Fr. Diekman as Moderator, the band has reached new plateaus of achievement. The highlight of the Band's calendar year is the "Blues On Parade," in which a variety of musical themes are combined into a show that pleases all. In addition to that other highlights include playing at halftime during football and basketball games, pep rallies and giving other concerts too.

The band has been a proud part of the heritage of St. Francis. This warrants special recognition to the boys and their moderators for their continued efforts during the entire school year.

One of the many practices preceding the band's annual Spring concert "Blues on Parade" is about to begin.

The saxophone lead is encouraged by Mr. Zapletal as drummer Bob Keiser lends support.

Drummers Bill Rublaitus and Jerry Jendrzyak and cymbalists Jim Becklem and Denny Bondy practice after school while Bob Quinnel looks on.

Jim Jasinski lets go with the golden sound of his trumpet while drummer Joe Willinger plays the supporting role.

The Knights go maching in to the tune of Ron Prebe, Al Cranon, Frank Pellioni, Greg Njaim, Matt Mattel, Bob Topolewski, and Mike McKelvey.

During the year, the Knight must prove himself scholastically, athletically, and socially. Homecoming Weekend is a means of displaying athletic prowess and social grace. After-School Knights

Expand Their Interests

Extra-curricular activities give a boy the chance to widen his interests and enrich his knowledge, as well as satisfy his curiosities. Wednesday afternoons would find the JCWA in fierce debate over the political issues of the day, while the Friday games would find the cheerleaders generating spirit and excitement before the huge crowds. Almost daily intellectual wars would be waged on the chess boards; while the ski club ventured twice to the slopes for overnight outings. These various organizations added to the enjoyment of school days and were the true essence of Knight Life.

Never Ends

During the course of the school year, one activity passes away and another takes its place. This refers to sports, scholastic and social activities. One fucntion, however, does not cease at the end of a given season; this is the Spirit Committee. Its primary purpose is to support the activities of the school and promote enthusiasm among the students. The job seems to be unending – and it is; the work lasts from September until May.

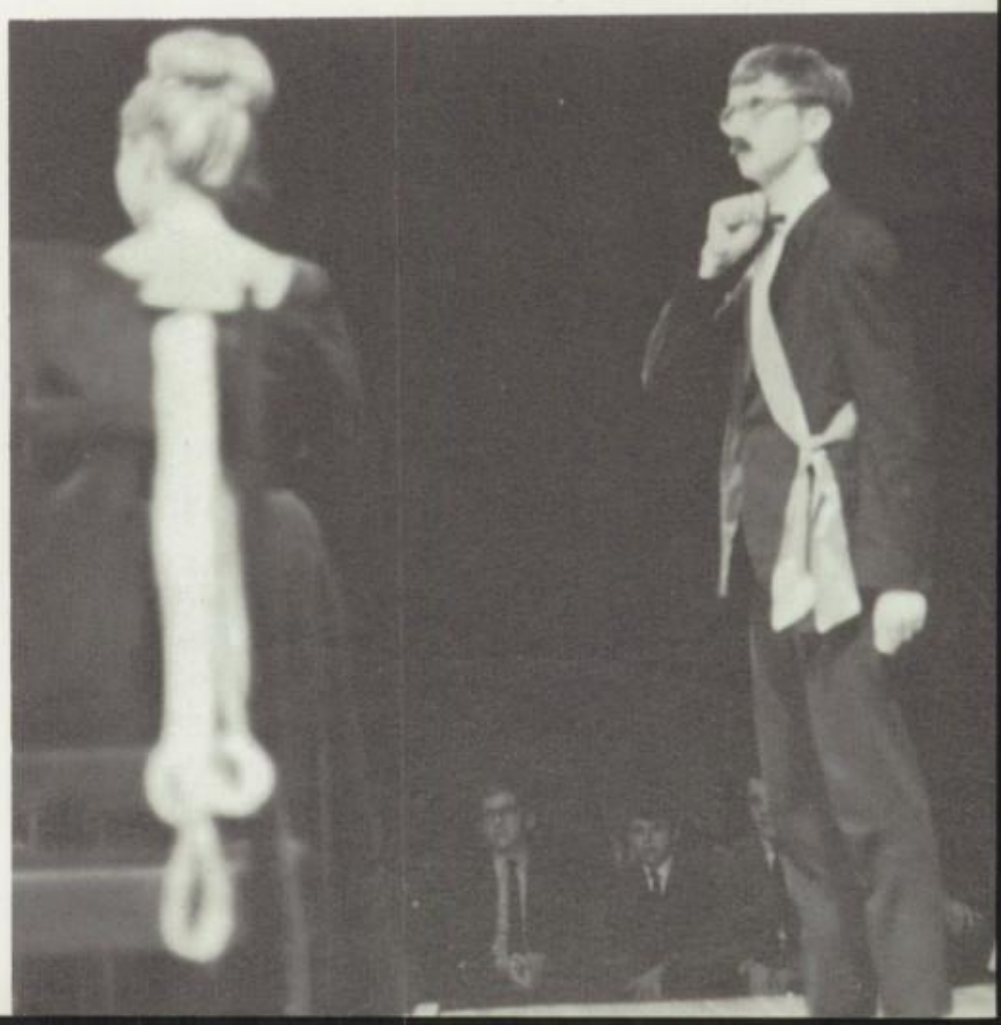
Thieves' Carnival Steals Audience

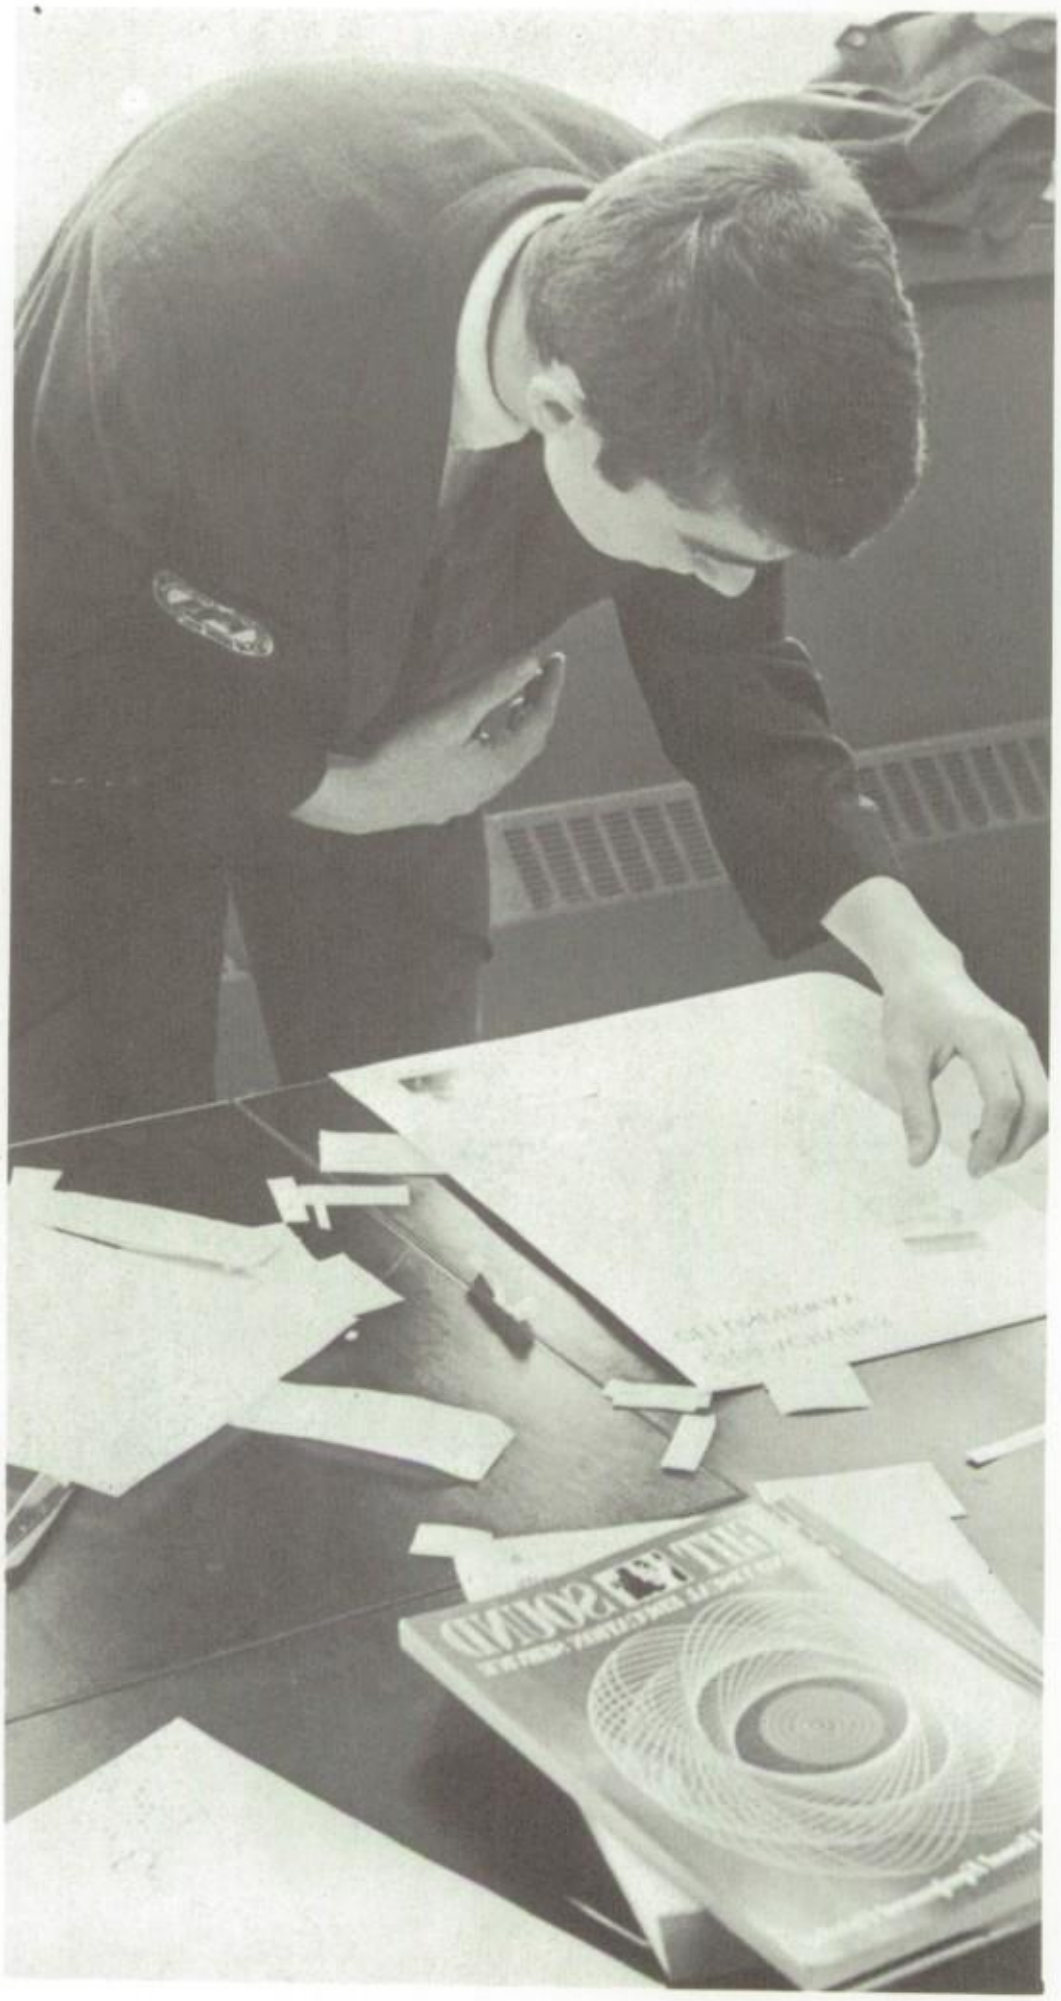
Cast turns in choice performance to packed house

Under the direction of Mr. Thomas Gavin, Thieves Carnival, a delightful French comedy, was performed in our auditorium, December 9th and 16th. The female leads, from St. Ursula, were Deborah Nagy, Cindy Pinciotti, Mary Boyer, Eileen Kennedy and Shelly Mercurio. Fine performances were turned in by Jim Mulherin, Joe Extejt, and Chris Lonc, as the thieves; Corey Garber, John Daly, Mike Gray, Tim Loughman, and John Kreuz were in the supporting cast. Playing to a packed house both nights, Thieves' Carnival will be remembered for many years to come.

Eva (Mary Boyer) scolds Juliette for her stubbornness about the love for Gustave.

Peterbono (Joe Extejt) stoutly denies all accusations that he is not, in fact, the Duke of Miraflores.





Editor-in-chief, Tim Loughman works on an upcoming issue of The Lance.

A deadline draws near as Father Power helps with the layout along with the staff.

A portion of the staff discusses the highlights and weaknesses of the latest issue of The Lance with Moderator, Father Power.

The Lance

All the news that's fit and available

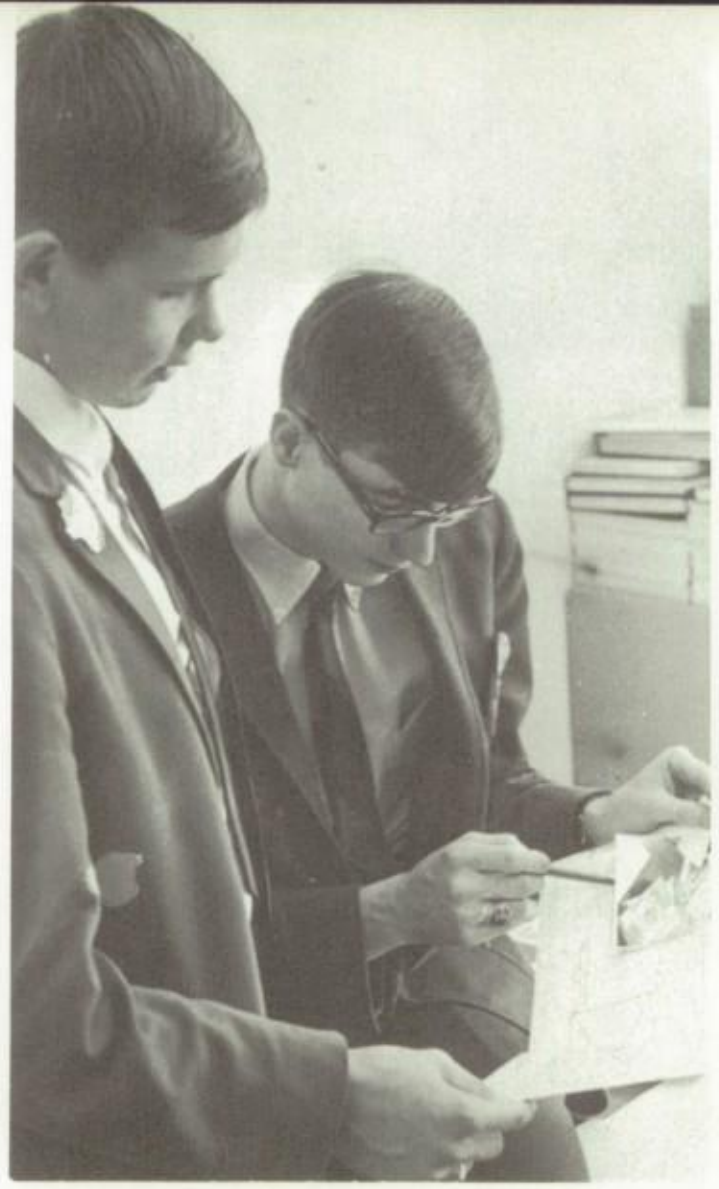
Keeping both the students and the faculty informed on the latest school activities and subversities, sports news and thought provoking editorials, was the work of the Lance staff this year. One of the major changes that came under the new Editor-in-Chief Tim Loughman and Moderator Father Joseph Power was the format of the paper. The new format, off-set, enabled the paper to stay out of the red, an accomplishment that would make any publisher envious.

Although the tag "the articles submitted represent the opinion of the writer, and in no way the editorial policy of the paper nor the philosophy of the school" became as familiar as the mast-head, and words like "intellectual dishonesty" flew across both sides of the editorial desk quite often, the paper this year demanded reflection if read. On the lighter side, the Johnson-Daly column set a precedent in offering the students an informal type of essay in the Swiftian style. Much credit to Fr. Power for guiding the Lance through rough weather.

Sports Editor, Mark Kapel, leaps through some of the Sport sarticles for an approaching issue.

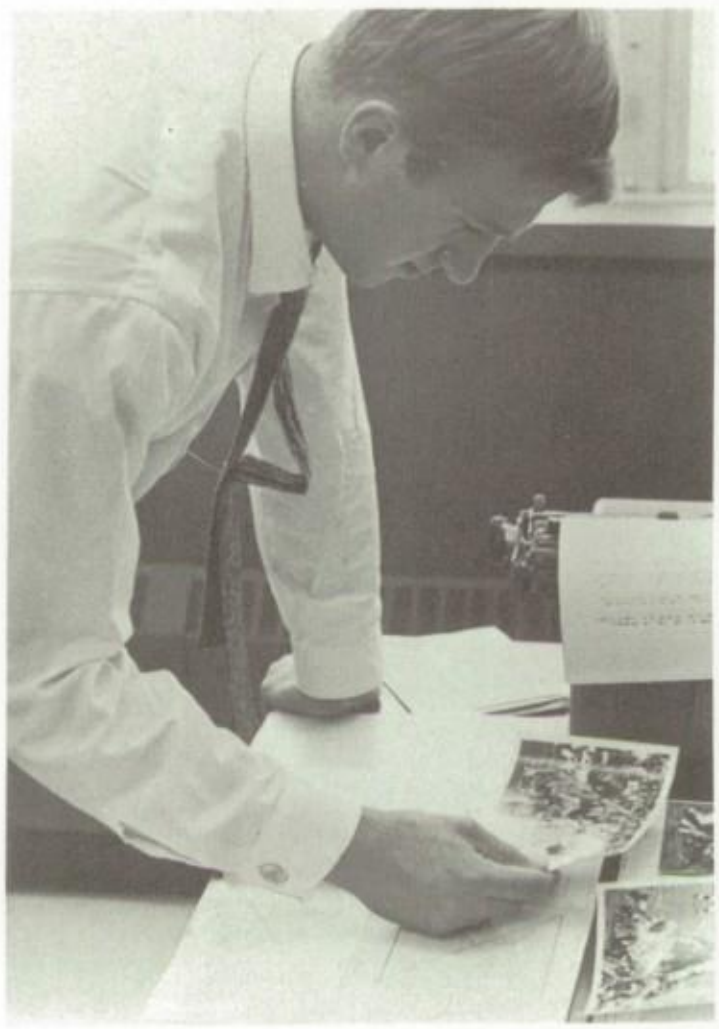
Censorship of the paper was one of the favorite topics discussed by Father Power and Tim Loughman.

Jim Mertes corrects mistakes as he proofreads the articles before publication.



The good planning of pictures by Bruce Kijowski and Rick Fowler adds to the interest of the yearbook.

The developing of pictures is also important for an efficient yearbook as shown by Greg Kissner and Larry Bialorucki.



Mike Oswanski contributes much of his free time working for the sports department of the yearbook.

Kevin Finnegan, Joe Conrad, and Gary Kiefer show the teamwork that is necessary for a good yearbook.

Moderator Father Cryan and Editor John Domalski survey the final layouts before (after) deadline.

School Activities

Registered by Accolade

The opening day of school in September also opened the doors of a top secret room, so secret, in fact, that not even the Accolade staff could find it. Rumor had it that the remnants of the old yearbook offices lay behind a pile of furniture stacked in a new room on the first floor, and that the room had the dubious advantage of being accessible to a waterless darkroom. The crisis of finding the room was met with the crisis of furnishing it, of repairing it, and of finding a staff to work in it. The Accolade boasts a large staff this year, and what is more important, a staff that thought enough of their fellow students to give them a yearbook.

Brisson and Chappuis: Administration's Right Arm

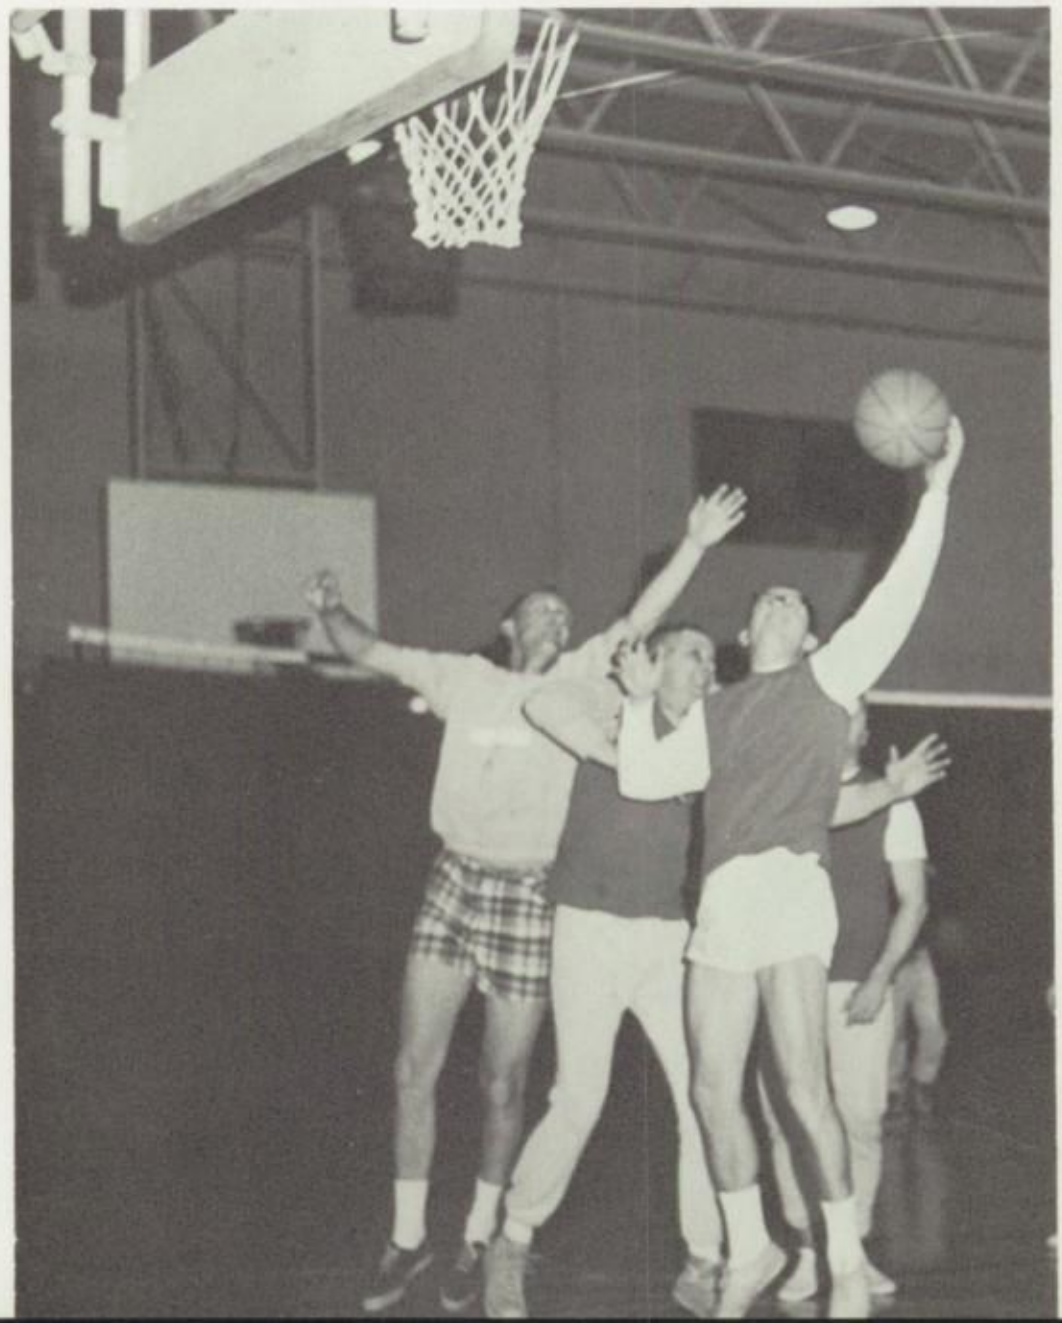
St. Francis is an organization that is out on its own. There is no place to turn for any kind of aid, as public schools can do. Where does the help for the needs of St. Francis come from? It comes from two highly efficient and successful societies, the Brisson Society and the Chappuis Society.

The Brisson Society, with the help of fathers and various alumni, organizes and runs many of the activities and fund raising drives at St. Francis. A few of these activities are the Golden Knight Ball, Freshmen and College Nights, Funarama, and the "Fat Fathers Physical Fitness Program".

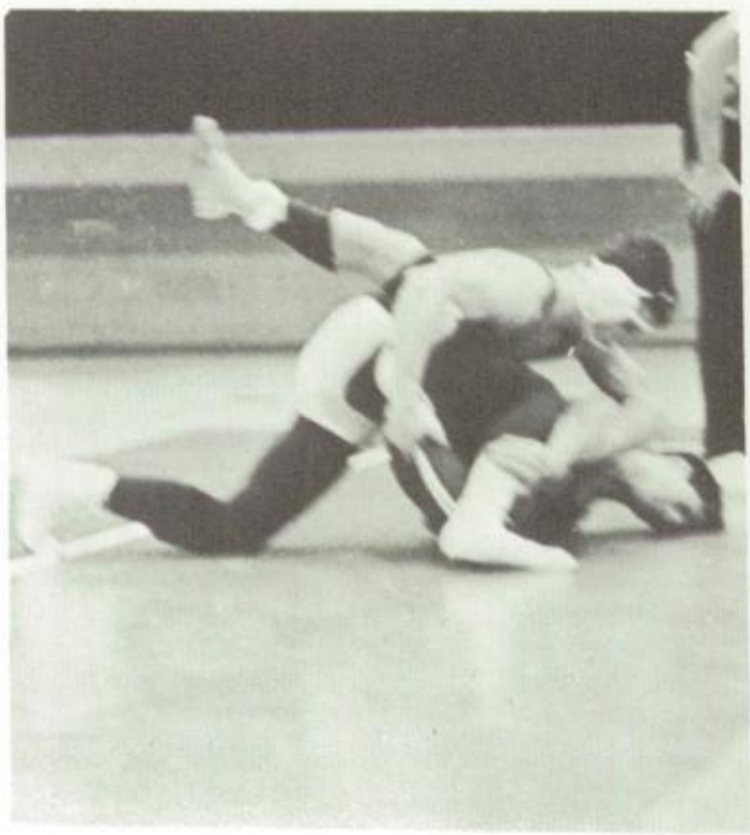
With Father Fisher as moderator, the Chappuis Society has also become a successful organization. Every year, with Father Marran's expert advice, the Chappuis Society sponsors a style show, one of the most cultural events of the year.

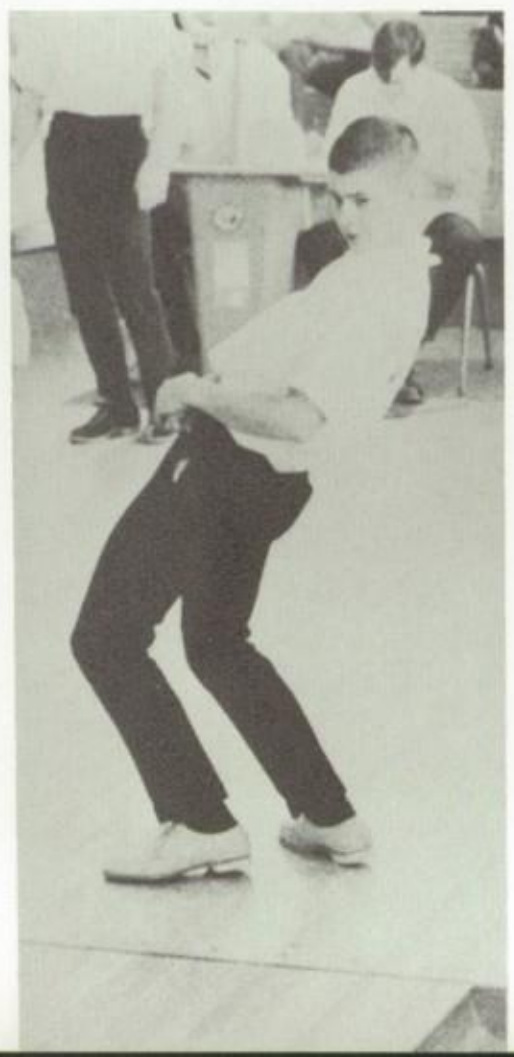
Thus contributing honor and development, these two fine organizations are the right arm of St. Francis, and it is very hard to say how the school could survive without them.

Defense is stressed during the "Fat Fathers Physical Fitness" basketball games; but at times there are defensive lapses.



Athletics





Play is one of those anomolous areas of human conduct where things of no importance are taken as matters of great importance.
Because man can let this happen it is often at play that he most easily recognizes that he has a dignity as a free agent, that he is not the toy of fate,
and that he has a value deeper than the practical.
Play is the area where man removes himself
from common necessity, and delights in what he is.
Play is re-creation, man's shaping an image of what he believes himself to be.

Knights Undefeated in Blue Division

Five named to All-City

Three to All-Academic

A crowd of several thousand gathered at Whitmer Stadium on September 8, 1967 to see St. Francis open its season against Whitmer. The St. Francis fans saw exactly what they had expected: a bruising offense and a stubborn defense combined to beat Whitmer.

After the defeat of Whitmer, the Knights went on to a fine 8-2 season under the guidance of head coach Dick Mattingly. In 1967, the Knights held victories over Whitmer, Detroit Ecorse, Central, Libbey, Woodward, Start, Cardinal Stritch, and Waite. The Knights lost only two games, one to Cleveland St. Joseph, 23-21, and the other to Central in the Shoe Bowl game for City Championship, 8-7.

Individual standouts were John Allen, John Chapman, Andy Huff, Joe Kittle, and Tom Schlagater who were named to the All-City team. Those named to the second team were Tod Mongan, Jeff Rohr, Steve Walko. Three Knights earned berths on the All-Academic Team: Bill Dziengelewski, Phil Johnson, and Joe Kittle.

Varsity Posts 10-10 Record

Time is the only thing which lost can never be replaced, and the 1967-68 team lost plenty of it. Several key players reported late because of the long, successful football season. Already three weeks behind, even more time was lost by injuries. When the season was still young and its tempo still unset, key players Tod Morgan, Steve Thomas, Mike Costain and Bart Reid were sick or injured. After defeating Cardinal Stritch in the season's premiere, the Knights lost four consecutive games. Only two of their defeats occurred in City League action, but the knights had lost their initiative. Although the team won several more games, it had played its best games in defeat.

It took powerful Dayton Dunbar down to the last seconds before succumbing to them. They also came within four points of defeating Central when the Irish were ranked third in the State.

However, the season was not entirely devoid of high spots. Macomber was beaten at a time they were still contending for the city title. The same fate befell Bowsher, still undefeated, when they fell before a furious fourth quarter rally. For his outstanding playing in that game, forward Ed Heintschell was named City League Player of the Week. The knights took their first two tournament contests, only to fall to Central by a decisive margin.

Several seniors made contributions of no small value. Bart Ried, the only returning letterman, provided experienced leadership, scoring ability, and rebounding. Several times the outside shooting of Ed Heintschell and Tod Mongan, who was awarded player of the game honors by WSPD for the first CCHS game, carried the knights to victory. The ball-handling of Tom Schlageter and Mike Costain, and the record-setting rebounding of Bill Dzingelewski were vital.

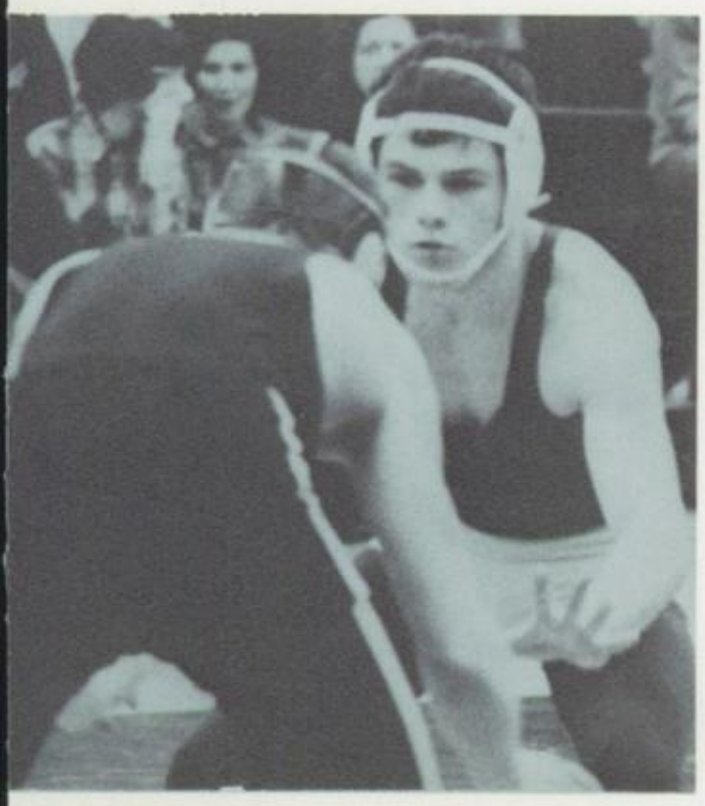
Grapplers Finish Third in State



The determination of a true champion beams from the face of captain Joe Zychowicz in districts.

The wrestling tradition at St. Francis was kept very much alive in the 1967-1968 season. Coach Leffler's matmen remained undefeated this year, posting a 8-0 record, raising their winning streak to 70 straight dual meets!

Throughout the season the wrestlers took the 3rd Adrian Invitational Tournament home to St. Francis for the first time in three years. Adding to their list of tournaments was the 7th annual CIT, which the Knights have won for the past five years.

As wrestling started to move into the city, so did the Knight's matmen. In the first City League Tournament, St. Francis emerged with its 5th straight championship in as many years as in the league. There were six knights on the All-City team.

After advancing all eleven men from the sectionals to the district, a feat which was never accomplished in this area before, St. Francis took their 7th consecutive district title. Here the knights had four district champions: Joe Zychowicz — 120; Bob Tscholl — 133; Bill Collins — 138; Denny Toffler — 145; one runner-up: Bill White — HVW; and a third-place winner, Kirk Pirchner — 154. These grapplers then advanced to the State Tournament in Columbus. Finishing fourth in the district was a sophomore, John Zychowicz, losing a trip to Columbus in the Consolation finals.

In the State Tourney, Denny Toffler won the State crown at 145, winning decisively in his final match against his Rogers rivals. Junior Bob Tscholl was the runner-up in the State at 133, and Kirk Pirchner held the third place spot in the State at 154.

Further recognition should be given to Coach "Doc" Leffler, Assistant Coach Joe Sevenich, and Moderator, Father Barkenquest for their combined effort in another successful season.

Swimmers Take State in '68

The St. Francis mermen came home with their second State Championship in only their third attempt. The team wrapped up two individual titles and a relay first. Dave Marker won the 100 yard butterfly in a good time of 54.1 seconds. The freestyle relay team of Phil Johnson, Bill Murtaugh, Dyke Edwards, and Tom Blank won going away in 3:22.4. The stellar performer of the meet was Dan Hylant who won the 200 yard individual medley in 2:02.1, two seconds under his best time, automatically qualifying him as a High School All-American.

The Administration picked a winner when they hired Peter Kennedy as our swimming coach. While not only leading the team through its second undefeated season, this was also his fourth State Championship in five attempts as a coach.

The dual meet season was highlighted by two triumphs over Kent State High, a pretender to our state supremacy. The team swept to their third District Championship in as many attempts by taking seven out of eleven first places and qualifying eleven swimmers for the state meet. Special remembrance goes, this year, to the Senior members of the team who swam their last for St. Francis this year. They are: Dan Hylant, Dave Marker, Joe Mann, Phil Johnson, and Bob Navarre.

Coach Pete Kennedy and Father Fisher accept state championship trophy from meet director. Coach Kennedy was also named the Coach of the Year.

Racket-Men Swing Into Action

After surviving the natural hazards (freezing rain, blizzards, etc.) which always limit the amount of early season practice, the 1968 edition of the St. Francis tennis team looked to be in fine shape. With the return of three letter-men, Phil Johnson, Rick Whately and, Jay Sherry, coach Ebenhoeh's task of building a city league power was greatly simplified. However; it was the addition of five other equally strong players who really made the season look bright. Randy Whately, Jim Bingle, Pete Dziad, Jeff Pease and Steve Dziad all contributed brilliant efforts in making the season the success that it was.

Spring Finally Arrives and a Young Man's Fancy Turns to Track

The Cross Country Team's biggest problem last fall was its schedule. In all but their opening meet, the Harriers ran up against the powerful Libbey squad which had no problem in running away with the City Championship. Coach Kelly's team, however; led by Seniors Dan Mouch and Mike Mann and bolstered by Juniors Steve Sutton and Ed Bryan, performed well all season. They beat Central in their only regular-season confrontation, and finished a respectable 6th in the season-ending City Meet in October.

Prospects for this year's track team looked good at the beginning of the season. Weightmen Andy Huff and John Allen, distance man Dan Mouch, and sprinter Karl Kovacs figured to be among the team's top point producers. Bob Evers and Joe Conrad, both veterans, looked good in the long jump, as did Ray Strassner and Ron Korvas in the high jump, Paul Ramirez in the 880, Chris Bates in the two-mile run, and Denny Lierer in the hurdles.

Above: Karl Kovacs, competing in the Devilbiss Night Relays, exerts that last bit of energy which is so essential to a winning effort.
Left: Also at Devilbiss, spectators are awed by Andy Huff's dazzling performance in the shot put.
Below: Wearing his lucky hat, Ray Strassner displays the technique which carried him over the bar in the Libbey meet.

Sprinting the final quarter mile, Dan Mouch proves that in Cross Country, as in everything else, it is the finish that ultimately counts.

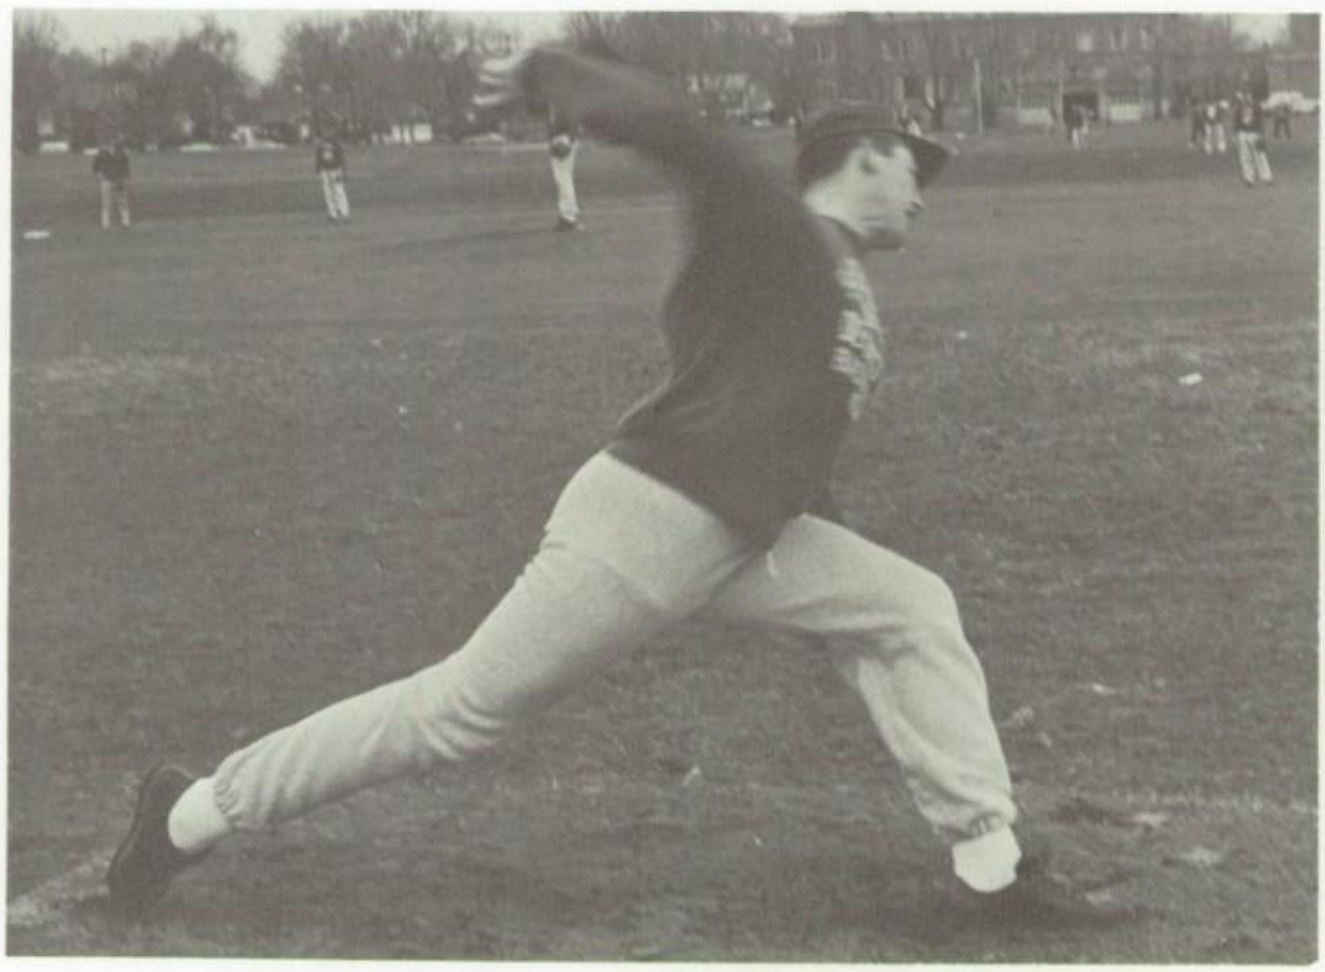
Bob Evers, always straining for that twenty-foot mark, takes a practice jump in the St. Francis pit. Joe Conrad, also a long-jumper, awaits his turn.

In the first practice of the season, Bill Dziengelewski attempts to regain last year's form by pitching a few rounds of batting practice.

Baseball Team Looks Ahead to Another Successful Season

At the beginning of the season, this year's baseball team was looking forward to successfully defending its city and district titles. With the return of letter-men, Jeff Rohr and Todd Mongan, the batting department appeared to be supplied with sufficient strength. Bill Dziengelewski and Jay Connor planned to carry the bulk of the pitching assignments while other fine players such as Jim Grady, Bob Meyers, and Henry Geha hoped to secure starting positions.

Jay Connor warms up prior to taking his turn on the mound.



Terry Conlisk takes a hefty cut at the ball in an early season practice.

Everybody's Activity

Competitive spirit of students is shown

The intramural contests at St. Francis are easily the most popular of all activities in the school. The type of contests may range anywhere from an exhausting football game to a heated ping pong match. This year, the St. Francis Intramural Committee even sponsored a battle of the bands. The importance of these games is that they give everybody, especially those not of varsity caliber, the chance to participate in his favorite sport. In addition to the fun and excitement these inter-sectional games provide, they also teach the participants the lessons involved with fair play, winning, and losing.

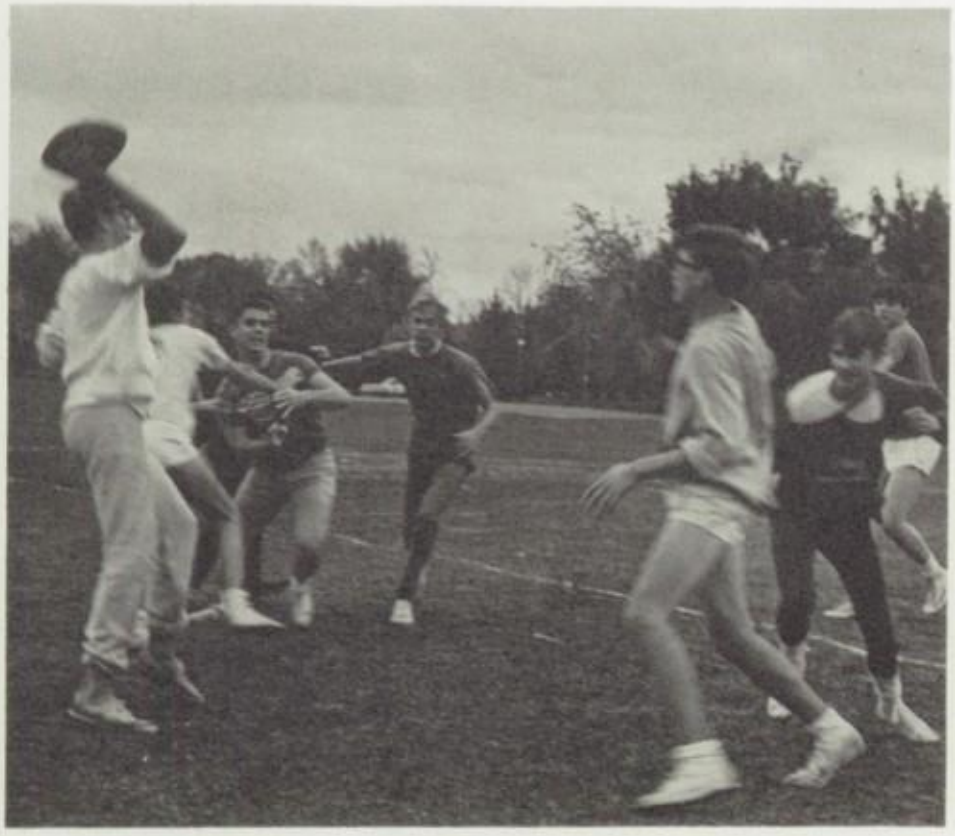
Another aspect of the intramural program is the annual student/faculty clash in basketball and bowling. These contests attract the attention of everyone and provide a constant source of enjoyment. They also teach a valuable lesson — the faculty does not lose.

Our Intramural Committee, headed by Fr. Boston, deserves the whole-hearted thanks of each and every member of the student body.

A smooth approach and delivery is the hope of every intramural kegler.

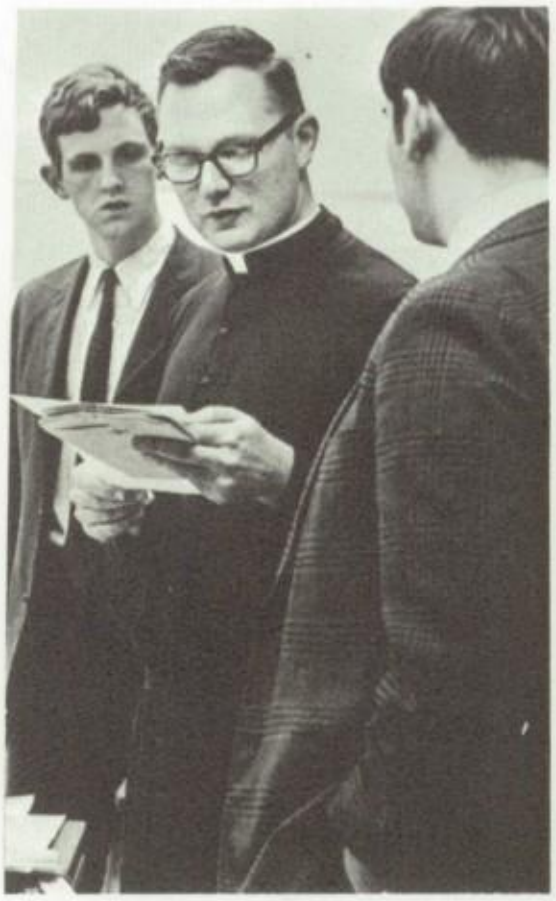
The Intramural Championship of the school brings together such outstanding players as Dennis Shoenbarger, Jim Hodulik, Tom Tafelski, Dave Dumont, Jeff Rohr and Jim Bingle.

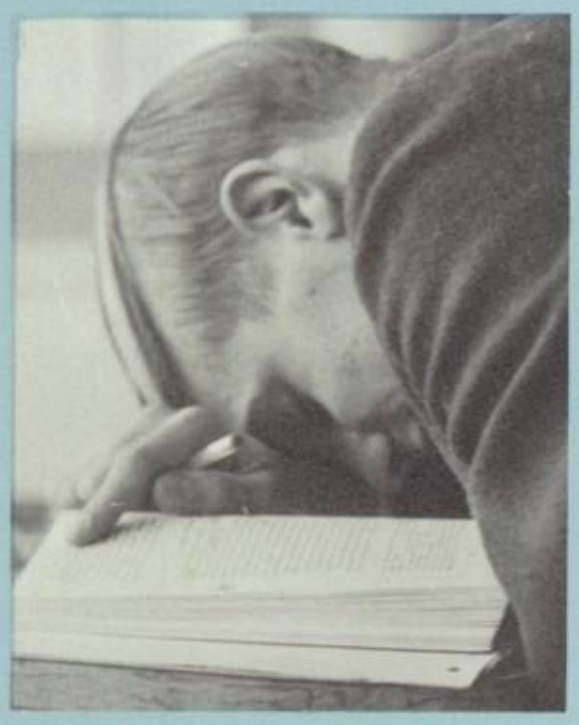
The competition gets sharper and the action more fierce as the final minutes of a football game tick away.



"Hey fellas, three against one just isn't fair."

Students





A gentleman is a man who does not inflict pain.
He is too strong to take unfair advantage of the weak.
He is relaxed in his restraint, patient in his force.
He may be right or wrong in his opinions
But he can decline assent without advancing ridicule.
He is acquainted with the weakness of human reason as well as its strength
And never uses his knowledge or wit to hurt.
He gives the impression of receiving when he gives.
He has too much sense to be affronted by insult;
he is too well employed to remember injuries;
and he is too indolent to bear malice.

Father Mossett leads guests in prayer.

Class president, Jeff Rohr, is first to receive ring from Fr. Healy.

The Class of '68 reached their first pinnacle towards graduation on September 29, 1967. Approximately one hundred-eighty Seniors gathered at St. Pius X Church to receive the long-awaited rings. These rings signify three years of hard work and endurance and officially proclaim these boys as leaders of St. Francis.

The Mass was celebrated by Principal Fr. Healy, with an inspiring homily given by Fr. Cryan. He stated that "the ring signifies a bond of loyalty between the Lord and the receiver and that your mind is a gift given to you by God which must be developed to its fullest capacity in loyalty." The rings were offered to God during the Offertory as a sign of our loyalty to Him. After the Mass, Fr. Healy distributed the rings to the proud Seniors as their even prouder mothers watched. The Senior Class officers were honored by being the first to receive the cherished rings.

After the ceremony everyone gathered at Sylvan Hall for a brunch. There Fr. Healy warned us to be careful of ring thieves -- namely girls.

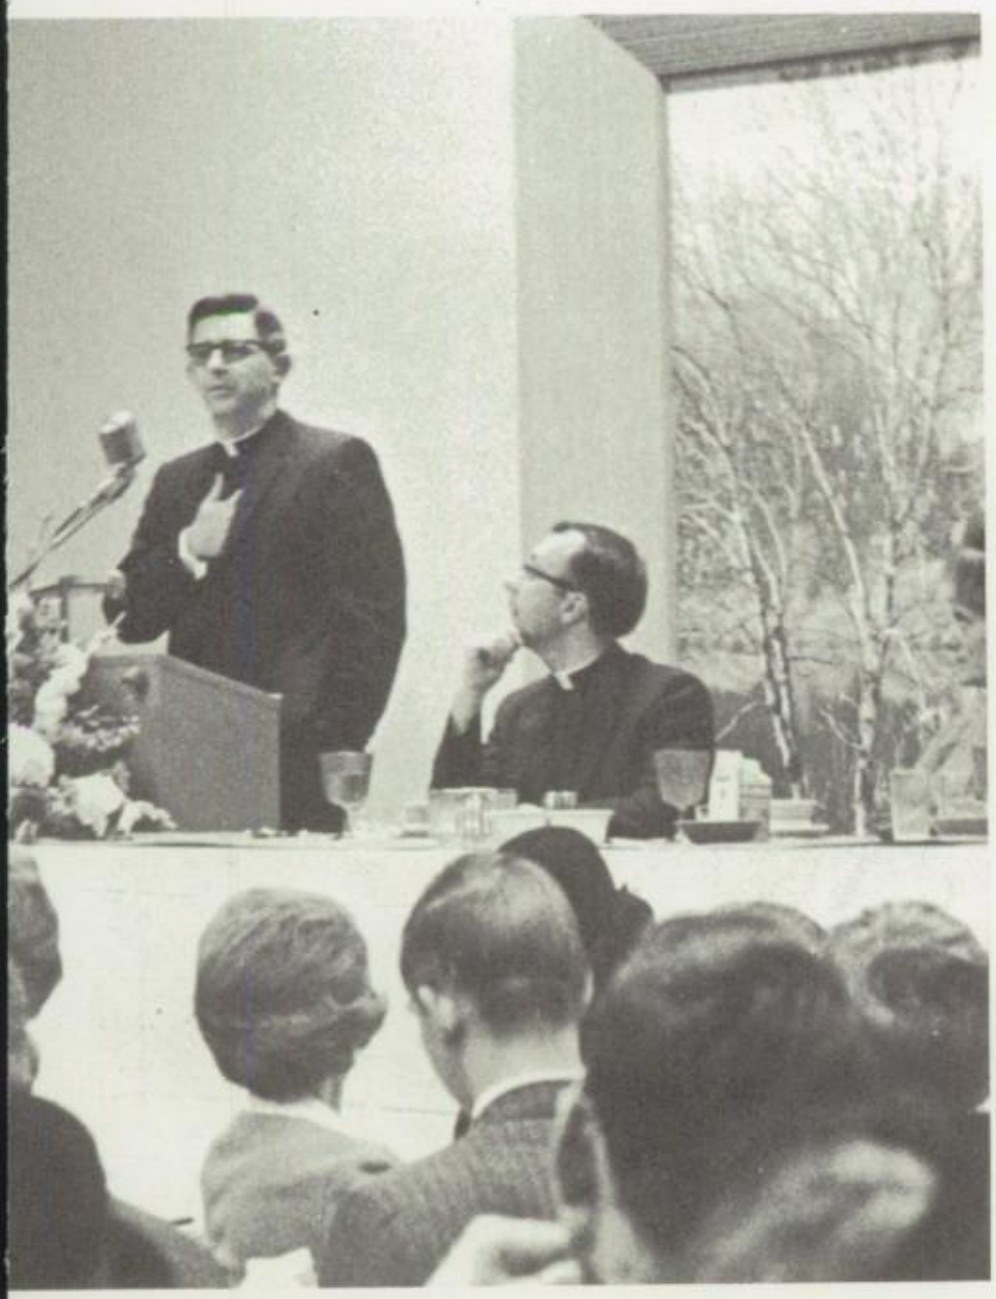
Ring symbolizes pledge of loyalty and service



"Give her your heart but never your ring," said Fr. Healy at the brunch for Seniors and their mothers.

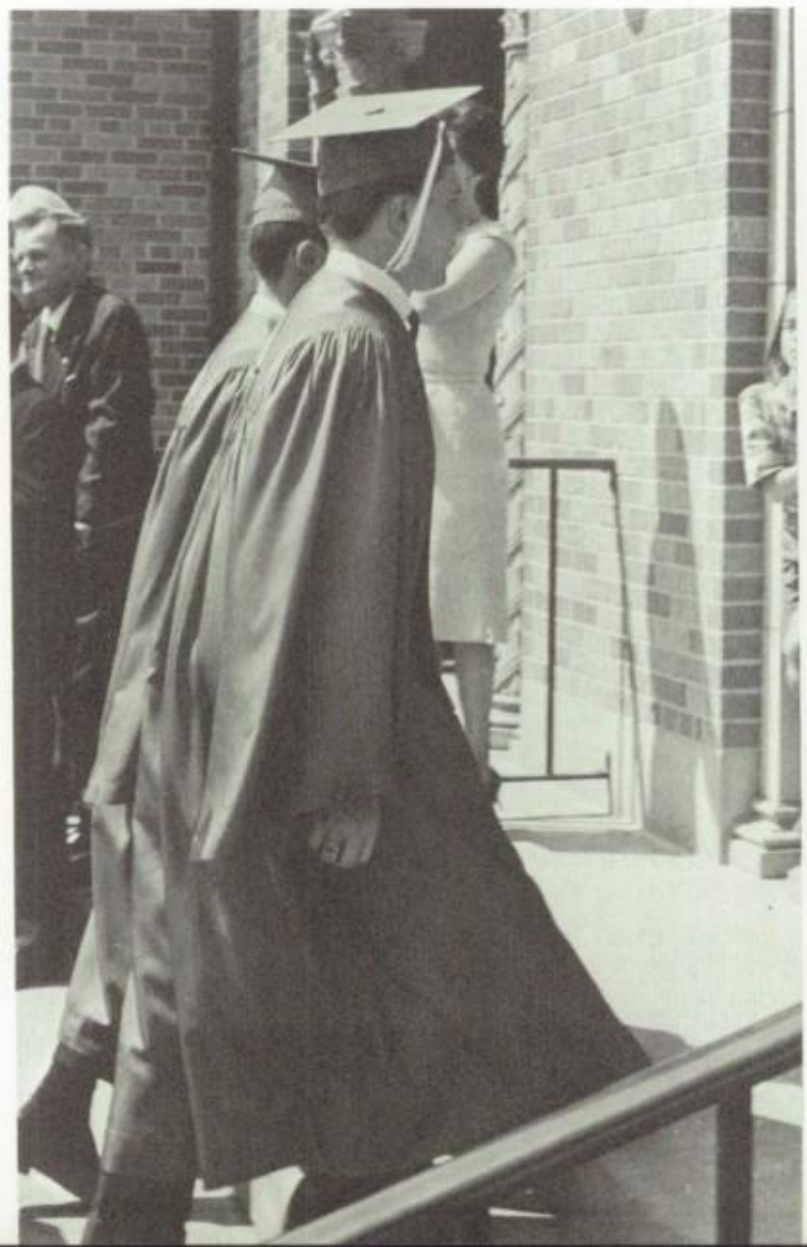
On their way to the formal close of the beginning of education, the Seniors use the "steps" for the last time.



Graduation:

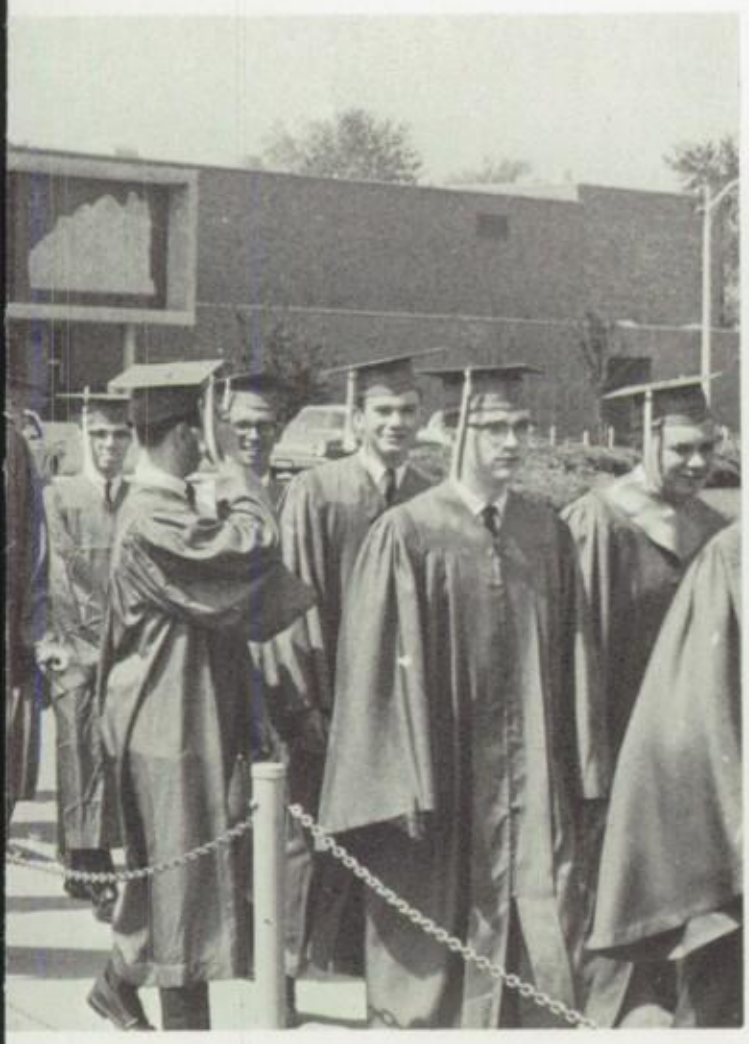
the End of the Beginning

Four years after entering the halls as scared Freshmen, the class of '68 finally reached the pinnacle of success — graduation. For the last time, these boys marched down the Senior steps. There were mixed emotions: exuberance because they had succeeded in attaining their goal, and a little dejectedness for they would be departing from the friendships which they had made.

These men were willing to make the many sacrifices for the attainment of their goal. Frequently, rather than going to all of the dances, games and social events, they had to give a lot of time to their books, endeavoring to expand their knowledge, their ultimate goal.

Graduation, we began to realize, was just the first step into the adult world. Only three months separated us from the world of the collegiate. With graduation, a new world would be thrown open to us, a world of opportunity and responsibility. With graduation, many students start preparing for out-of-town colleges, many going away from home for the first time.

There are many people whom we should thank before leaving. First, the teachers who day in and day out taught and endured; then, the classmates, who made the four years happy; and finally and most of all, our parents who pushed and sacrificed for us so that we would be prepared for future life.



Fr. Louis Komorowski, O.S.F.S., Superior of the Toledo Community of Oblates gives the Bread of Life to the Seniors at the Graduation Mass.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS
The staff of the 1968 Accolade wishes to express its sincere gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Mack Suprunowicz of the Modern Yearbook Company for their invaluable assistance in the layout and planning of this book.

Fathers Healy and Mossett, acting in behalf of St. Francis de Sales High School, graciously accept a chalice as a gift from the Toledo Knights of Columbus.

The school year is finished. For some it was a good year, filled with victories, academic and personal accomplishments, and the sense of satisfaction that accompanies these. For others, it was a bitter year, having losses, regrets and failures. For all, it was a fast year. Always that fight against time: a few more days of cramming for a test, a few more days before a deadline, a few more hours of prom time, a few more minutes of game time. But time moved on, respecting neither persons nor situations. The Accolade offers what time has refused. We've stopped the story and re-spoken it. We have captured the image in paper and print; it is you who wrote the story.
